Queen, Philip Visit to U.S. Very Successful

10-day Trip Comes to End With Full-dress Shindig

BULLETIN

LONDON (UP)—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip returned to London today from their highly successful 11-day trip to the United States and Canada. Their plane landed at London Airport at 4:02 p.m. (12:02 p.m. e.d.t.). Her plane had left New York at 1:58 a.m. taking 10 hours and four minutes for the non-stop flight.

NEW YORK (UP) — Queen Elizabeth II left for home early today and it was almost as if a fairy queen had come and gone.

She and her prince charming for 10 days took Americans' minds off Sputnik, the Mideast and domestic headaches.

Elizabeth was many things to those who welcomed her and her husband, Prince Philip, wherever they went — Ottawa, Jamestown, Williamsburg, Washington and New York.

To her own folks in Canada, where she paid her first call, she was a real personage, to be treated almost reverently.

In the United States, she became an earthy "Lizzie", "Liz" or "Hiyah, Queen." But she also represented the storybook queen of our childhood.

President Eisenhower saw the Queen as a "symbol" of the link between the two English speaking peoples whose interests are the same.

Mayor Robert Wagner, of New York, called her a "great queen, and a gracious lady."

A Celebrity To All

And wherever she visited, she was a celebrity the whole town turned out to see.

Monday was her greatest day—her first visit to New York, which she confessed she always had longed to see. In the last day of her 10-day North American visit, she crowded in plenty of rubbernecking. New Yorkers rubbernecked right back...police said one million 700-thousand of them got to see real live royalty. Most of them lined the sidewalks to watch the traditional hero's welcome, a ticker tape parade up Broadway.

Their last day in the United States was so crowded that royalty, which most of the time you can set your clock by, began to be tardy. Not just a few minutes, but several.

The day included lunch with Mayor Robert Wagner and some 2,500 other guests; dinner with the Pilgrims and the English Speaking Union; and the final event in an eventful day, the Commonwealth Ball. This full-dress shindig was sponsored by the 58 associated Commonwealth societies. Some 4,500 persons packed the 7th Regiment Armory to watch the Queen, in diamond tiara and jewelled evening gown, review honor guards from the United States and Canada.

Escorted To Idlewild

Shortly after midnight the bubble-topped limousine which President Eisenhower lent royalty for its visit pulled away from the Armory. With motorcycle escort it headed for Idlewild Airport.

The big silver ship — a BOAC DC7C—was one hour late in taking off.

This business of being queen is work, even if the reward is dazzling gowns, a multi-million dollar jewel collection and adulation. Most of us wouldn't last a week on such a schedule. Royalty always is "on"...although the minute

Queen Is Given Royal Reception On Arrival Home

LONDON (UP)—Queen Elizabeth's subjects turned out in force today determined to give her a reception rivaling anything she got in North America.

Long before her arrival crowds began to swell at London Airport and along the route to Buckingham Palace.

London newspapers were ecstatic about the impression Elizabeth and Prince Philip made in the United States.

"Queen's triumph in New York," "Belle of New York," and "Queen of New York—just for a day," proclaimed the morning headlines.

The papers were filled with photographs of Monday's ticker-tape parade for the royal couple and the informality of it all. Nobody throws things at the Queen over here, not even ticker tape.

Britons got their first glimpse of the New York reception Monday night through a 15-second motion picture sent by cable. The movie, filmed by United Press Movietone, was the first ever successfully transmitted by cable across the Atlantic for broadcast.

It whet Britain's enthusiasm for its Queen's return.

South Huntingdon Soldier Loses at Russian Roulette

A soldier from South Huntingdon Twp. was killed Saturday when he apparently lost a duel with "Russian roulette."

Police in Princess Anne County in Virginia identified the victim as Norman J. Harshbarger, 21, of Wyano.

Police said Harshbarger, who was stationed at nearby Fort Story, was sitting on a couch in the trailer home of another soldier, Pfc. Darwin Brock, Saturday, when Brock showed him a 38 caliber pistol.

Police quoted Harshbarger as saying:

"Give me that gun, I want to play Russian roulette."

According to police, Harshbarger put the gun to his head and, taking a chance that a bullet was not in the chamber, pulled the trigger.

The gun fired and Harshbarger was dead on arrival at a nearby hospital.

SINGS FOR QUEEN — A Monessen native, Blanche Thebom, the Metropolitan Opera's leading mezzo-soprano, was honored last evening when she was chosen to sing The Star Spangled Banner at the Commonwealth Ball held in New York City for Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip. Her part of the program was carried to the nation on live television. Miss Thebom was one of the featured programs of the 1955-56 Monessen-Belle Vernon Civic Music Association season.

Local Veterans To Burn Flags Here Nov. 10

Local veterans will hold a public flag-burning ceremony here on Sunday, Nov. 10, it was announced today by a committee from two of the City's veterans organizations.

The flag burning will be held at the Tank Memorial site in City Park at 6 p. m.

Prior to the ceremony, which will be conducted according to military regulations, members of the Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Thomas McKee Post 28, American Legion will collect torn and tattered flags now flying on graves of servicemen in district cemeteries.

In addition, the public is asked to participate by turning in all old flags that are no longer suitable for flying to either of the two veterans posts.

Taking part in making plans for the event are John Hurrianko and Angelo Giannini, VFW and Post 28 commanders, respectively. Others on the committee include Jack Snyder, representing Post 28 and Walter Kwolek, Paul Komar and Socrates Loulis, Post 1190.

Services Held Today for 104 Year-old Woman

Funeral services were held today for Mrs. Catherine Shirey of Smithton, one of Westmoreland County's oldest residents. She died Saturday at the age of 104.

A native of Sewickley Twp., she was the widow of David Shirey, a Civil War veteran who died in 1913.

Mrs. Shirey was in good health until a few days before her death last Saturday, and had voted until four years ago.

Surviving are three sons, Frank, Erie; Lafayette, Scottdale, and Noah, Smock, Pa.; four daughters, Mrs. Margaret Eberhart and Mrs. Ella Mae Nichelson, Scottdale; Mrs. Susan Hurd, Dormont, and Mrs. Harry Echard, Washington, Pa.; 23 grandchildren 37 great-grandchildren and 10 great-great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Baron Run Cemetery, Smithton.

Top Steel Man Denies Monopoly

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Arthur B. Homer of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. told Senate anti-monopoly investigators today that steel prices are based on "competitive conditions" rather than an individual company's actual costs.

Homer acknowledged, however, that "competitive market prices are bound to be the same or nearly the same" for competing companies in the same market areas. He denied that this implied monopoly conditions.

Homer was questioned for a second day by the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee which is investigating the steel industry and its recent price increases. The subcommittee is headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Kefauver placed into the record a detailed tabulation of prices on various steel products and changes made in them over the past two years. In only two items of the 16 listed did Bethlehem prices differ from those of U.S. Steel, the industry's largest company.

Asks About Prices

The senator asked why Bethlehem appeared to alter its prices in almost every instance to the exact amount charged by U.S. Steel.

Homer said that "generally we meet the competitive level as we see it" on a national and regional basis.

Kefauver said he could understand why a price cut by U.S. Steel would force Bethlehem to cut likewise. But he said he did not understand why Bethlehem's competitive position would not be helped if it refused to increase prices every time U.S. Steel did.

Homer said that under existing circumstances Bethlehem would not be helped by holding prices down below those of U.S. Steel.

He said that normally steel prices were based "slightly above" the costs of production of the "marginal producers." The more efficient producer, he said, won the larger profits.

U.S. Has Advantage

Homer said he did not know U.S. Steel's unit costs, but he was sure they were not that of Bethlehem. He said U.S. Steel had the productive advantage of being a "more integrated" company.

He added that last July's $520-a-ton increase in steel prices did not cover the actual cost increase Bethlehem has to face, which, he said, amounts to $8 a ton. The difference, he said, his company would have to absorb.

Homer said that competition in the industry was mostly confined to market regions, with only U.S. Steel operating in all U.S. markets. That was why, he said, Bethlehem had wanted to merge with Youngstown Steel, so that a new company could compete nationally with U.S. Steel.

He said plant location could give a company "competitive advantage" so that it could charge a higher price than a competitor who had to ship his steel farther to that market.

Kefauver said he didn't understand charging a higher price in an area where a company has a competitive advantage and calling it "competition."

Homer replied that the customer was interested in the "delivered price" of steel, not the price at the plant.

MAKE WAY FOR NEW SCHOONMAKER AVE.—Workmen from the Frank Donatelli Co., Pittsburgh, are busy removing the old brick Schoonmaker Ave. near 15th St. They hope to complete the removal phase in the four-block area tomorrow, then begin immediately with the concrete paving. This is one of two street improvement projects which has snarled traffic in downtown Monessen.

SAIGON (UP)—Left-wing terrorists hurled three bombs at American vehicles and installations in central Saigon today, wounding 19 persons including 13 U.S. Army officers and enlisted men. The U.S. Information Building was badly damaged.

The 13 army men were wounded in the explosion of two plastic bombs outside U.S. military billets here where the American Army is helping the government of free Viet Nam build up its strength against the Communist north.

Blame Communists

Official South Vietnamese sources blamed Communists for the three blasts which came while President Ngo Dinh Diem, one of the most outspoken anti-Red leaders in Asia, was entertaining trade representatives of 21 Asian nations, many of them neutrals.

No one was reported injured in the blast which wrecked the library although the building contains apartments upstairs for U.S. Embassy employes.

One bomb was hurled under an American military bus near the billets. Another exploded in a flower pot outside an Army hotel. The bombs were reported to be the same type of plastic bombs used by left-wing elements in outbursts of terrorism three years ago.

Fly To Manila

Eight of the Americans were wounded so seriously they were being flown to Clark Field in Manila for hospital treatment. Five others were released after being treated at the U.S. Army dispensary.

The first bomb apparently a time bomb, exploded at 7:25 a.m. (2:25 a.m. e.d.t.) outside Five Oceans Hotel, a U.S. military billet. It injured American military men waiting for a bus.

The second bomb was hurled under a bus outside the Hotel Metropole at 7:40 a.m. The two hotels are about a mile apart.

To Embarrass Government

The third bomb exploded inside the U.S. Information Service Library at 1:05 p.m., knocking down bookshelves and blasting out windows. The library was closed at the time, a factor which averted casualties.

Some quarters believed the bombs may have been exploded by Communist elements to embarrass the Viet Nam government during the current ministerial meeting of the Colombo Plan Conference.

The bomb thrown at the bus from a passing automobile also injured four or five Chinese and Vietnamese on the street. Another Chinese was blown off his bicycle. He was treated at the site of the bombing.

Doctors Advise Flu Shots, but no Vaccine

Physicians in the Monessen district generally agree that it's a good idea to have a flu shot, but they frankly admit they don't have the vaccine to administer it.

The U. S. Public Health Service yesterday advised as many persons as possible to be inoculated by the Asian flu vaccine.

District doctors today agreed with the idea, but pointed to the apparent vaccine shortage.

One pharmacist in the city said he has received only about 10 per cent of his orders for the vaccine. And all of this supply has been earmarked for certain physicians.

He said another shipment was due the latter part of the week, but pointed out that cancellations are the rule rather than the exception.

Just where the vaccine is seems to be somewhat of a mystery. The U. S. Public Health Service claims that 13 million doses have already been distributed.

'Worth Having'

At the State Clinic in Greensburg, a spokesman said she was unable to release any information, but added:

"If there's any Asian flu vaccine in the county, nobody knows where it is. Some physicians may have received a small quantity, but there's definitely no supply."

Yesterday, the U. S. Public Health Service admitted that the vaccine doesn't seem to be providing the 70 per cent protection expected. However it was pointed out that the vaccine is "well worth having" and doesn't result in any of the ill effects rumored.

The Asian vaccine is designed

Ike Is Preparing For Talks; Hears New Missile Blasts

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower laid the groundwork today for high strategy talks with British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan, possibly to create a close scientific alliance coping with giant Russian advances in space missiles.

The President summoned Secretary of State Dulles to prepare for the three-day conference with MacMillan starting Wednesday. They also will discuss the sizzling Turkey-Syria dispute brought to a boil by Russian propaganda.

Backgrounding the talks were new congressional demands for pooling and increasing the Free World's scientific brains and manpower to meet the missile-borne Soviet satellite.

There also was a direct demand to the President from Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) to restore immediately $170,000,000 "meat axed" from military weapons research and development.

Monroney, in a letter to Eisenhower, said it was imperative he revoke a "secret" order Aug. 17 effecting the cuts.

An off note came from Presidential Assistant Clarence B. Randall. He dismissed Russia's Sput-

Traffic Snarl Continues Here; Ban on Parking

Two street improvement projects have snarled traffic in downtown Monessen for the second straight day.

A detour was set up yesterday blocking off the west end of the city to permit the removal of a four-block area of the old brick Schoonmaker Ave. This work will make way for concrete paving. Today another downtown street - Donner Ave. - was blocked off to traffic from 12th to 6th street as workmen applied a new coat of blacktop.

This section of Donner will be opened again tomorrow, but the length from 6th to 2nd street will be blocked off.

Police Chief Michael Kuvinka said no parking or traffic will be allowed tomorrow in that four block area. Motorists will be rerouted from 1st to 7th streets over Schoonmaker Ave. which will be made two-way for the occasion.

Since no travel is permitted on the blacktop for six hours, Kuvinka said it will be necessary to block off the road for most of the day.

The improvement projects are part of the state Highway Department's plan to repave both Schoonmaker and Donner avenues which carry Route 906 through the city.

Miner Killed at Brownsville Pit

An assistant foreman was killed under a rock and slate fall last night at the U. S. Steel Corp.'s Karen Mine about six miles west of Brownsville.

Killed was Emerson Hout, 46, of New Salem.

Joe Grubish, 45, a loading machine operator from Fairbank, also was buried in the fall but was treated by a physician and returned home.

Authorities said Hout apparently suffocated.

More Than Million Collected By the State on C-M Bridge

Tolls at the Charleroi-Monessen bridge amounted to more than a million dollars during eight years under state operation, it was announced today.

The state Highways Department disclosed that the bridge grossed $1,161,200 from 1949 until freed on May 15 of this year. The bridge was purchased by the state at a cost of $551,108.

The 50-year-old Charleroi-Monessen bridge was one of ten former toll spans purchased by the state in 1949 and 1950 from private companies. The cost of the entire purchase was $8,578,388, financed by a bond issue authorized by the 1949 Legislature.

Expenses during the eight year period of state operation amounted to $1,707,926, including salaries and insurances while another $769,127 was deposited with the state treasurer as surplus accounts.

The total amount grossed from the bridges was $9,782,388.

The enabling legislation directed that none of the bridges could be freed of charges until sufficient money was collected to redeem all bonds. It was originally anticipated that the bridges would not be freed until 1961.

The Charleroi-Monessen bridge grossed more than twice its purchase price. However some of the other bridges, particularly two in Harrisburg, did not pay for themselves during the eight-years of state operations.

The cost of the spans and the amount of tolls collected:

Clarks Ferry, Duncannon. $538,204 ($1,426,423); Market St., Harrisburg, $3,850,000 ($3,031,889); Eighth St., Allentown, $425,755 ($288,136); Ellwood - Koppel, Ellwood City $354,000; ($476,926); Sunbury, $650,000 ($1,302,033); Charleroi-Monessen, $550,000 ($1,161,200); Minsi Trail, Bethlehem, $385,000 ($529,574); New St., Bethlehem, $145,000 ($408,494); Point Marion, $325,000 ($536,252), and Walnut St., Harrisburg, $1,317,928 ($621,434).

In addition to the purchase price, legal and appraisal fees for the bridges cost another $10,499.

The New Kensington-Tarentum toll bridge between Westmoreland and Allegheny counties was not freed because it was built by the state after the 1949-50 purchases. However, the report showed the span collected $849,992 in tolls up to last June 30 since it was opened to traffic in 1952.

Why Americans Are Disliked

LONDON (UP) — Why are Americans disliked abroad?

Malcolm Muggeridge, noted British writer and former editor of Punch, said in an American TV program last week end that it was because the United States is "very rich and very powerful."

Today, the London Daily Telegraph said it wasn't as simple as all that.

"The Americans have many other disagreeable qualities," the Telegraph reported. "They are as a whole generous, well-meaning, kindly, optimistic, freedom-loving, honest, warm-hearted, uncensorious, mindful of their own duties, respectful of others, tolerant, friendly and likeable.

"Heaven knows how we put up with them at all."

Three Arrested on Disorderly Charges

Three persons were arrested early today by Monessen police on drunk and disorderly charges.

Police said Albert Crites, 29, of 33 East Schoonmaker Ave., was picked up on a complaint by his wife Dorothy.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lowe, of 105 Ninth St., were arrested after allegedly quarrelling at their home. Mrs. Lowe told police she was pushed down a flight of stairs and suffered a lacerated elbow which required six stitches to close.

Shotgun Victim Shows Signs of Improvement

Wallace R. Urban, 40 year-old Monessen furniture store salesman who was allegedly shot by his wife early Saturday morning, was reported in "satisfactory" condition today at West Penn Hospital in Pittsburgh.

However a hospital spokesman added that Urban was "not out of danger."

A private nurse attending Urban, who underwent surgery Sunday, said that he was conscious and capable of speech but was troubled with severe coughing spells.

According to police, Urban was shot in the chest with a 16 gauge shotgun by his wife Hazel, 44, while he lay sleeping in his Lynnwood home at 810 Fayette Rd. Saturday morning about 2:30 a. m.

Fayette County Detective Pete Rebottini said Mrs. Urban told him she had first planned to put rat poison in her husband's coffee.

Police quoted her as saying that she made up her mind to kill her husband several days ago because of his "drinking and running around."

The shooting took place shortly after Urban returned home early Saturday morning, police said. Mrs. Urban heard her husband groan following the shotgun blast and called police.

Mrs. Urban is being held in Fayette County Jail in Uniontown. The mother of two teen-aged daughters, she was treated in Bellvue Hospital in Pittsburgh last year for a nervous condition.

Urban was rushed first to Charleroi - Monessen Hospital, then transferred to the Pittsburgh hospital where he underwent surgery.

Argentine Strike Under Way

Troops Called To Help

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—Argentine troops in full battledress guarded transportation lines and other vital installations today to prevent sabotage and violence during a nationwide 48-hour general strike.

The strike began at midnight. It was called by the neo-Peronist and Communist leadership of some 60 unions ostensibly to support demands for an emergency general wage increase and a freeze on prices.

The unions claim a membership of 2 million—more than half of the nation's organized workers. Other unions are expected to join in the walkout in spite of opposition from their leaders.

Four Railways Halted

First to feel the effects of the work stoppage were the nation's railways. At least four of the six big railway systems stopped operating at one minute after midnight.

In Buenos Aires, a soldier and Marine carrying rifles equipped with bayonets rode every streetcar. Federal police guarded subway stations and a policeman was stationed in each car to protect drivers who ignored the strike call.

The government of Provisional President Pedro E. Aramburu deployed troops along the railway lines and around transport terminals and air depots and ordered the arrest of anyone interfering with the right to work.

A government communique warned that the federal police force and the army will take all steps necessary "to insure public order, freedom to work and the operation of public services."

Worst Recent Crisis

The labor crisis loomed as the worst since the general strike of Nov. 1955, only six weeks after the revolution that ousted dictator Juan D. Peron.

A crowd estimated at 40,000 staged a pro-Aramburu demonstration in the Plaza Mayo in front of the government house in Buenos Aires Monday night.

Aramburu addressed the crowd and said the demonstration proved Argentines did not want "dictatorship by anyone. He stressed again his determination to carry out his political program which provides for national elections next year and a return of power to a popularly elected administration.

He urged his listeners not to participate in the strike.

With him was Lt. Comdr. Morton L. Lewis, 44, USN. At right, the balloon rises. It reached a height of 84,300 feet. The flight in the sealed gondola was designed to test man's reactions to high altitude, attempt to discover the source of cosmic rays, get atmosphere samples at various altitudes and obtain astronomical data. Ross and Lewis remained aloft for three hours and seven minutes.

Lawrence Calls For Quick End To Transit Strike

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh called for an immediate end to the transit strike gripping the district as negotiators met today for the first joint peace meeting since the 2,200 trolley and bus operators walked out eight days ago.

The mayor read a prepared, bristling statement as representatives of the Pittsburgh Railways Co. and the union of its operators met with federal and state mediators.

Lawrence bluntly warned both sides they were losing friends by the minute. He told them "your neighbors are resentful . . . there is an obligation upon both sides to get the mass transit system back in business."

The mayor pleaded with the negotiators to enter the re-newed bargaining meetings with the single thought of ending the strike. "You owe this attitude to yourselves, the company, the employes and above all, to the people of Pittsburgh who are suffering through no action or fault of their own." The mayor then left.

Flu Epidemic Shows Signs of Some Recession

By UNITED PRESS

The wave of respiratory illnesses appeared to be receding in scattered parts of Pennsylvania today although the death toll from flu-like virus continued to climb.

A United Press survey showed a total of 50 persons dead of respiratory ailments or complications in Pennsylvania, with the Lehigh Valley alone reporting 24 of the victims.

Eastern and central counties had 41 deaths, including 11 at the Pennhurst State School for mentally retarded in Chester County. Western sections of the state had nine dead.

The flu outbreaks weaved a zigzag pattern across the state and health authorities still awaited virus laboratory tests to determine how many of the cases aere of the Asian strain.

The state Health Department has confirmed 52 cases of Asian flu since the disease was reported in the nation last summer. The initial outbreaks in the state were believed to have been in the Lehigh Valley's Northampton County. Attendance in most schools rose sharply, but classrooms in some sections remained closed because of the rate of absenteeism.

Pittsburgh schools had about 18,500 absent Monday, compared to 31,700 two weeks ago. In Philadelphia, the number of flu cases was estimated at 141,000 so far this year. The Scranton area reported two more school districts closed.

The schools of Derry Twp. were the only ones closed in Dauphin County.

Dr. Leopold Potkonski, Pennhurst superintendent, said 141 patients of the Spring City institution were still ill, two of them on the critical list.

Vaccine

to offer protection against only one strain of flu virus. A vaccine to protect against several strains is also late in arriving. Physicians are hoping it will show up in time to combat an epidemic expected early next year.

The flu problem seems to be on the downgrade in the Monessen district. All schools are back in session, including those in the Bellmarette district which had closed last week.

Industries in the area reported no loss in production even though absenteeism was a little higher than usual the past couple of weeks.

While drug stores have been unable, for the most part, to supply flu vaccine, they have kept up with the unusually heavy demand for cold capsules, cough syrup and other such medicines, a survey indicated today.

nik as a "silly bauble." He said the United States could have been first in putting up a satellite if it had mixed its Sputnik program with military missiles.

While the Russian moon entered its 19th day of circling the earth, there were these other developments:

—Scientists at Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., said the satellite and the rocket which put it into orbit would be more visible over the United States during the next three nights than ever before.

—Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) proposed an eight-point plan to boost the scientific manpower pool of North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations.

Proposes Civil Control

—Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) proposed a civilian organization of scientists to take over the U.S. missile program from the military. He said the government also should subsidize the scientific education of "uniquely adaptable" students.

There were reports in London that MacMillan would make a plea for the United States to share its atomic and missiles secrets with Britain.

President Eisenhower called for close scientific teamwork between the two nations in a toast last week to visiting Queen Elizabeth II.

Another Democrat Sen. Hubert B. Humphrey of Minnesota, called for a broad investigation of "the mishandling of our defenses" by the administration. He is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Former Fayette Banker's Case Goes to Jury

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A jury of six women and six men today begins deliberating the case of Milo K. Ruse, former Point Marion, Pa. banker, charged with evading $6,226 in income taxes.

Ruse, placed on probation in 1953 for embezzling $152,177 from the First National Bank of Point Marion, now is charged with understating his income by more than $16,000 for 1950 and 1951. He replaced the embezzled funds.

Robert Jarvis, Ruse's attorney, told the Federal Court jury Monday that the defendant did not conceal income or attempt to evade taxes.

"It seems unreasonable he would omit certain income from his return after previously reporting it," Jarvis said.

The government charged that Ruse wilfully failed to report income from interest on savings bonds and certain dividends.

Hubert I. Teitelbaum, assistant U.S. attorney, told the jury it was unbelievable that a man with Ruse's banking background would claim he did not know accumulated interest on savings bonds had to be reported.

40th Anniversary of Doughboys in France

WASHINGTON (UP) — Today is the 40th anniversary of the date on which America crossed the threshhold from preparation to participation in the bloody ground fighting of World War I.

On Oct. 22, 1917, the first unit of American Doughboys moved into the trenches of the Western front in France.

They were infantrymen of the 1st Division. For the past three months, they had been training in French camps far behind the lines. Now, at last, they were moving up to the front for their long-awaited crack at the Hun.

Rain was pouring in torrents as they marched through deserted, shell - pocked villages to their assigned sector east of Verdun. It was a dark, cold night and it was rough going through the deep mud of the French roads. In the distance, and getting ever nearer, they could hear the thumping of artillery.

This was the great adventure for which they had crossed the Atlantic, and the Doughboys approached it with a light - hearted eagerness. Twice an officer had to shout for silence to stop them from singing "Tipperary."

A Gallic Welcome

Somehow they got into the trenches without being detected by the German artillery. The French troops, whom they relieved, gave them a classic gallic welcome, with much hugging, kissing of both cheeks and handshaking.

Gen. John J. Pershing had deliberately chosen a quiet sector of the front to give his men their introduction to war. Across the dark waste of no-man's land, which the Doughboys took turns inspecting through trench periscopes, there was no sign of activity in the German lines.

Behind the Infantrymen came Battery C of the Sixth U. S. Field Artillery. Struggling and falling in the deep mud, the artillerymen hauled a French 75 up the side of a small hill, and pointed it in the general direction of Germany.

At 6:15 a.m. on Oct. 23, just as dawn broke over the front, a red-haired sergeant from South Bend, Ind., pulled the lanyard.

First American Shell

A loud cheer went up from the sergeant's comrades as the first American shell of World War I whistled into the enemy lines.

The shell case was carefully preserved, and sent home to President Woodrow Wilson as a souvenir. The gun that fired it was quickly removed from action and shipped back to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., where it is sull displayed as an historic relic.

The red-haired sergeant's name was lost to history under a censor's pencil. But the rest of the exciting news was duly reported in American newspapers. And a thrill of patriotic pride swept over a nation whose participation in the war to save democracy had previously been confined to buying liberty bonds and doing without sugar.

The New York Times account contained two sentences, on an inside page, which might have reminded a careful reader that war was not altogether glamorous.

Initial Casualties

"Casualties among the American forces are to be expected," it said. "A well-aimed shell could land among the troops at the front at any time."

Twelve days went by before the warning came true. Early in the morning of Nov. 3, the Germans laid down a heavy artillery barrage which cut off a salient occupied by a company of American troops. Over the top came a wave of German infantry. The inexperienced Americans were taken by surprise. But they fought bravely in the brief, violent hand-to-hand combat that followed.

When the German raiding party withdrew, it took 12 American prisoners. Five Doughboys were wounded.

Cpl. James B. Gresham of Evansville, Ind., Pvt. Thomas F. Enright of Pittsburgh, and Pvt. Merle D. Hay of Glidden, Iowa, were killed.

They were buried Nov. 6 on the slope of a hill near the front. The site is marked by a monument which the French government erected. The inscription says:

"Here lie the first soldiers of the great republic of the United States who died on the soil of France for justice and liberty."

$30,000 Damage in Blaze at Windber

WINDBER, Pa. (UP)—Damage was estimated at $30,000 today from a blaze which destroyed the Scalp Level-Paint volunteer firehouse near here.

The two-story frame building burned to the ground Monday despite the efforts of 10 district fire companies. Firemen said defective wiring caused the blaze which broke out about 11 a.m.

All engine equipment was removed from the building but the $5,000 alarm system was declared a total loss.

Judge Holding Up Election of Hoffa

WASHINGTON (UP)— A federal judge apparently is ready to keep Teamster President James R. Hoffa from taking office until a trial determines if he was elected properly.

Judge F. Dickinson Letts indicated Monday he would issue a new injunction of some kind to keep Hoffa from taking over. Union lawyers, anticipating further action by the judge, were preparing a quick appeal to a higher court.

The judge refused to cancel a temporary injunction barring Hoffa from office. The injunction expires Thursday.

Hears Protest Group

Instead, he proceeded with a hearing on a request by a group of rank-and-file teamsters from New York for a preliminary injunction placing the affairs of the giant union under court supervision.

Teamster attorney Martin F. O'Donoghue contended that Letts erred in issuing the original restraining order.

But the 82-year-old judge overruled all objections.

The case centers on a claim by the 13 rebel union members that the recent union convention was "rigged" to insure the election of Hoffa as president. In support of their argument, they produced records subpenaed from the convention credentials committee by the Senate Rackets Committee.

When the judge indicated he would continue to bar Hoffa from office O'Donoghue offered to guarantee that Hoffa and other newly-elected officers would not take over until Nov. 24 if the trial began right away. But the judge said "you don't go far enough."

Godfrey P. Schmidt, an attorney for the 13 teamsters, said he had evidence from Senate files and other sources that 606 convention delegates were improperly seated. He said the "fraud is so blatant" that one delegate was shown to be elected after the convention was over.

But O'Donoghue submitted an affidavit from Teamster Secretary-Treasurer John F. English which said that Hoffa would be elected by any convention under "whatever supervision this court or any other governmental body might wish to impose."

Raise for Health

CHICAGO (UP)—The International president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen announced a seven-cent raise due the union's 6,000 members Nov. 1, will be used for a health and medical program.

OFFICIALS TOUR MAGURA PLANT — As part of a City-wide program whereby City officials and directors of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce can become better acquainted with industrial problems in the City, members of the two groups yesterday toured the Magura Clothing Co. plant at Third St. and Schoonmaker Ave. Here members of the two groups watch girls working on the manufacture of military uniforms of our armed forces.

Bail for Three Is Denied

Washington County Judge George T. Cummins yesterday denied bail for three Canonsburg area men charged with murder.

After a two-hour hearing, Judge Cummins refused to grant a petition for writs of habeas corpus for Glenn Alford, Ronald Burgess and George Pollard.

The three are under indictment for murder in the July 13 death in Washington Hospital of 72-year-old Austin Wallace of near McDonald. Wallace was found in his home the night of May 13 after allegedly being beaten in a robbery attempt.

State police picked up the three defendants about four days later. Wallace spent two months at the Washington Hospital before dying July 13, according to the Commonwealth, from the effects of the beating.

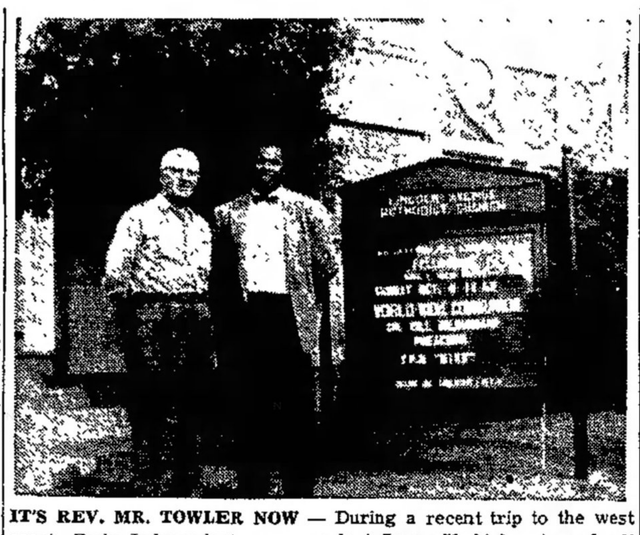
Petitions Denied

Judge Cummins called a halt to the near two hours of turbulent hearing when he denied the petitions and noted that it was the second such hearing in a few days involving an attempt of a murder suspect to get free on bail.

The court noted that any defendant is surrounded by all the protections and guarantees of the Constitution and for the most part the court will "bend over backwards" in favor of a defendant.

Judge Cummins noted also, however, that while the court must protect the accused it must not be at the expense of the public and that the safety of others must be considered.

Appointed counsel for the three defendants, Robert Ceisler, Samuel B. Rodgers and Richard DiSalle, indicated that the decision might be appealed.



IT'S REV. MR. TOWLER NOW — During a recent trip to the west coast, Daily Independent correspondent Louis Kichinko stopped off to see Rev. Daniel L. Towler, former football star with Donora High, Washington - Jefferson College and the Los Angeles Rams. The Rev. Mr. Towler, who turned down a $14,000 professional contract to accept a $3600 position as a Methodist minister, said he was "happy" with his duties at an inter racial church in Pasadena, Calif.

Ex-Valley Footballer 'Happy' as Minister

By LOUIS KICHINKO

"I'm perfectly happy."

That was the Rev. Mr. Daniel L. Towler's comment recently when I visited him at his church in Pasadena, Calif.

On my last trip to the west coast two years ago, the Rev. Mr. Towler was the star member of the Los Angeles Rams football team. He was generally acclaimed as the finest fullback in the pro sport.

But the former Donoran showed little of the contentment then that he revealed during my recent visit.

"My only complaint at the moment is that I'm a little overweight," laughed Rev. Mr. Towler, now pastor of the Lincoln Methodist Church.

The great athlete, his wife and young daughter live next door to the church. They all seem pleased with Pasadena.

In accepting the Lincoln Methodist Church, Rev. Mr. Towler responded to a challenge probably far greater than any he faced in sports. The congregation is interracial and Dan was the first member of his race to serve as church pastor.

Unusual Success

The intelligent and tactful Rev. Mr. Towler has enjoyed unusual success. His congregation obviously respects and loves him

The decision to enter the ministry must have been a difficult one for the former Donora High and Washington-Jefferson College star. Besides giving up the cheers of the crowd, Rev. Mr. Towler turned down a $14,000 professional contract.

As pastor of the Lincoln Methodist Church, he now receives $3600 per year, plus $400 for automobile expenses.

But Rev. Mr. Towler made it plain that money never had any influence on his career. He wanted to be a minister as long as he can remember.

Had Good Average

He graduated from Washington-Jefferson College cum laude. He did graduate work at Howard University on a scholarship and took seminary studies at the University of Southern California while playing for the Rams.

At USC, Rev. Mr. Towler maintained a better than B plus average despite his added football chores.

The Lincoln Methodist Church has a congregation of 250 persons. For the most part, they represent middle-class families.

"Say hello to my good friend Dr Michael Duda (former Monessen superintendent of schools)," said the pastor. "And tell those Mon Valley sportswriters I've never attended a banquet bigger than that Big Six affair."

Rev. Mr. Towler was anxious to talk about the Mon Valley, but he indicated that his life's work was now in California. He escorted me through his church and extended every courtesy possible.

"It's always a pleasure to talk with someone from the valley," he observed.

Sculco Lashes Out at 'Biased Assaults by Some Newspapers'

District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco, a Democratic candidate for Westmoreland County Common Pleas Court, took on an old foe in a campaign speech last night.

Sculco lashed out at what he termed "biased and vicious editorial assaults by some newspapers."

"The record is the best evidence of how the Democrats are handling your affairs in Westmoreland County," argued Sculco. "Don't be misled by editorials which appear in some of these newspapers. These editorials are one man's opinion and are written with the aim of destroying the Democratic party."

Sculco, who spoke to over 100 party workers in Vandergrift, said he was "proud of our county."

"Certainly others must look to our county with pride also, because our population has increased 13.2 per cent since 1950 and we are getting more new faces, new industries and new homes every day," he said.

Sculco then went on to cite the Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt and Westinghouse Electric and Aluminum Co. of America, as industries which have faith in the county and are locating plants here. He indicated that the county's low tax structure was one of many reasons why industries "favor this county."

The district attorney also defended the county's record in juvenile cases.

"I am proud of the county's crime and juvenile delinquency records," he said. "Very few children get into trouble in our county."

Other speakers at the district meeting for the Vandergrift area were: Judge Edward G. Bauer, and Judge David H. Weiss, judicial candidates with Sculco; Earl S. Keim, candidate for district attorney; Stephen D. Yoney, candidate for coroner; Howard Bricker, candidate for clerk of courts; Leo Sukala, prothonotary candidate; and Dora M. Dunn, jury commissioner.

Tonight the candidates will attend a district meeting and several small rallies in New Kensington.

Banquet Speaker

The Hon. Hugh Scott, Philadelphia congressman and former chairman of the Republican National Committee, will be the banquet speaker at a one-day political workshop on Saturday at Allegheny College, Meadville.

The workshop will be co-sponsored by the Pennsylvania Youth for Eisenhower and the Citizenship Clearing House of Western Pennsylvania.

Students and faculty members from 30 colleges and universities will take part.

Democrats Endorsed

The Monessen Political Action Committee of the United Steelworkers last night went on record as endorsing the "straight Democratic ticket" in the November 5 general election.

It was reported that the PAC will back Democratic candidates for both county and local offices.

According to a PAC spokesman, the following United Steelworkers locals were represented at last night's meeting: Local 1229, Local 2698, Local 4384, Local 3403, and Local 1391.

Testimony in Carroll Twp. Hearing Closed

Testimony in the lenghty and involved hearing on the proposed annexation of about 200 acres of Carrol Twp. by the Borough of Donora was closed yesterday in Washington County Court.

Judge David H. Weiner accepted testimony but the case will be decided by the court en banc.

On Nov. 4, attorneys will argue the law in the case before the full court.

Carroll Township has bitterly contested the proposed annexation and the court battle narrowed at least in part to the usual annexation problem of how many actual freeholders there are in the land to be annexed and how many valid signatures of these freeholders are on the annexation petitions. A valid petition must have more than half the freeholders in the land to be annexed.

Cieply Warns Inspection of Phone Offers

Monessen area persons were warned today to be careful when accepting an offer which is being extended to them by telephone solicitors.

George Cieply, Monessen Chamber of Commerce manager, said telephone solicitors are calling district homes and offering coupon booklets for $2.98 each.

These coupon booklets are for various merchandise certificates, which the customers are told are worth many times the $2.98.

Upon acceptance of this phone offer the coupon booklet is delivered to the home at which time the buyer gives the messenger the $2.98.

"We have not authorized any soliciting in the Monessen area," Cieply said.

"We hope all those who agree to buy the booklets carefully inspect the contents before paying out the $2.98," Cieply said.

Lions District Banquet Tonight

Lions Club District 14-E, which includes clubs in the Monessen district, will hold its seventh annual induction of new members and banquet tonight at Ben Gross Restaurant near Irwin.

Principal speaker will be Finis E. Davis, third vice-president, Lions International. He will be introduced by Arthur T. Stratton, district governor.

Ross Aiello, Monessen, deputy district governor, will help conduct the initiation ceremonies.

Top Winners at Forensic Tourney

Three Monessen High School students were top winners in the extemporaneous speaking division of the National Forensic League tourney held in Greensburg on Saturday.

They were Michele Giannini, Judy DiBuono and Jean Buchar. Miss Carolyn Sedey, who is in charge of forensic work here, accompanied these and several other students who participated in the day's activities.

There were approximately 290 students from 19 schools represented in the competition held at Greensburg High School under the directions of Julia Brunelli.

W&J to Hold Homecoming This Saturday

A float parade will be a feature of Homecoming at Washington and Jefferson College this Saturday.

The floats will carry the Homecoming Queen, chosen the night before at an alumni dance from among eleven contestants sponsored by campus fraternities and the freshman class, and her attendants.

Floats will be judged for originality of theme and the winner will receive a prize during half-time ceremonies of the football game between W. & J. and Carnegie Tech at 2 p. m. at College Field.

An alumni banquet at 6:30 p. m. will top-off the Homecoming. At the banquet, several alumni will receive citations from W. & J. for outstanding service to the college.

Virginia Fighting to Hold to Segregation

RICHMOND, Va. (UP)—Officials sought new means today to preserve the state's tradition of racial segregation in the schools.

The U.S. Supreme Court Monday toppled the state's pupil-placement law, designed as the keystone in Virginia's program of "massive resistance" to court - ordered integration.

Gov. Thomas B. Stanley said the state would "continue to use every legal and proper means" to block integration attempts. He said there were other weapons at hand. Stanley apparently referred to companion laws to the pupil-placement plan, which would automatically close integrated schools and withdraw state funds from schools that do integrate.

However, both a federal district court and the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals cited those laws as the reason for striking down the pupil-placement act.

Attorney General Kenneth C. Patty refused comment on the high court's action until he conferred with Stanley and lawyers who handled the case, probably in the next few days.

Still unanswered was the question of what if any effect the court's action might have on the state's gubernatorial election Nov. 5, in which the dominant issue has been the best means of assuring continued school segregation.

J. Lindsay Almond, the Democratic candidate who is a former U.S. attorney general, said the Supreme Court's refusal to review a lower court ruling ordering integration in Newport News and Norfolk would not "change my position one iota."

And Horace E. Henderson, Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, said the High Court stand "will definitely give us (the Republicans) a tremendous spurt."

Republican gubernatorial candidate Ted Dalton said the Supreme Court had struck a "death blow" to the present segregation program and called for a special session of the General Assembly to enact new laws to cope with every attempt to integrate.

Negro attorneys hailed the court decision, but refused to say whether they would press the courts to set a deadline for integration to begin. Federal Judge Walter E. Hoffman had ordered Norfolk and Newport News to end segregation by last September, but said he would not order integration in the middle of a school term.

Fayette Planning Group Rejects Perry Request

The Fayette County Planning Commission last night turned down a request by the Perry Twp. supervisors that the township garage be moved from Perryopolis to a site along old Route 51 near Star Junction.

The Commission stated that the garage would be too close to a residential area if the request were approved.

The planning group's action is subject to the approval of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners.

In other business, the commission discussed proposed enlargement of its staff and future employment plans for the district.

Director Edward Heiselberg announced that the commission last week received an $11,900 allocation from the Federal government.

Kiwanis Light Bulb Sale Opens

The annual light bulb sale by which the Monessen Kiwanis Club will add to the underprivileged children's fund will begin here tonight under the direction of T. W. Read, chairman.

All money earned through this effort is used to provide "Christmas" for needy children.

Three teams of Kiwanians will visit every home in the Monessen community before the campaign ends, and the house to house visitation will begin early this evening.

A bag of six bulbs is offered for sale and each purchaser is given the seventh one as a bonus.

Freedom Key to West German Revival

WEST GERMANY is the leading industrial nation of Europe, the world's largest exporter of automobiles and is possessed of a currency so sound that she has served as a banker for two of the victorious nations of World War II, Great Britain and France.

East Germany, under the iron-bound control of communism, labors in ruins, hunger and poverty, although Germans with the same skills and abilities to work hard live there.

While the in-pouring of foreign gifts, grants and investments has undoubtedly figured large in this renaissance, the system developed with these aids remains the most significant factor in the German revival. The key to the difference between the two countries is that for the past nine years West Germany has followed an aggressive free-enterprise policy and taken advantage of private initiative and the assurance of profits from its production.

Timed to come at approximately the same period as drastic currency reform, nearly all the rationing and myriad government controls which had shackled the West German economy were lifted at one stroke in mid-1948. The effect on business and industry was electric. Commodities that had previously been hoarded or bartered on the black market poured overnight into empty shops .A sound money allowed for sound expansion, the country was off to a running start.

The contrast between conditions in East and West Germany could hardly be more startling. In capsule form, with a brand new setting and different characters, this divided country has in a few years time re-enacted the story of America's development as contrasted with the countries of the old world.

The story of the two Germanys proves once again that with suitable ground rules everyone benefits most when individuals are allowed the freedom, opportunity and incentive to work out their own problems. This is a lesson which should be taken to heart by all Americans, most of all by those who would compromise severely the system we have built or would take more from the system than they conscientiously contribute.

Seaway Obstacles

A PROBLEM has arisen in connection with the vast St. Lawrence Seaway project, and, as seems to be the pattern with such monstrous undertakings, the taxpayers may be dealt in after all.

The advocates of the Seaway have always emphasized the principle of self-liquidation, which simply meant that tolls should be sufficient to pay all the costs. And Public Law 358, which authorized this country to participate with Canada in Seaway construction, requires that waterway costs be paid for by the users, either fully or to the greatest extent possible.

Now, however, Seaway partisans are changing their tune. It is found that construction costs are far greater than the estimates — which seems usually to be the case with king-size government projects. So it is feared that toll charges sufficient to meet the costs, and to conform with the self-liquidation principle, would be so high as to discourage prospective users. Therefore, various strategems are proposed whereby tolls would be set at levels lower than the costs justify, and, as a result, the taxpayers would make up the difference in direct or indirect subsidies.

If that should happen, and the navigation project cannot be made to pay for itself, it would amount to an admission that the Seaway is economically unsound as a transportation facility. It would mean that it could get traffic only with the artificial aid of subsidized rates. Proponents are likely to play this aspect of the Seaway down, but it will bear watching if the country as a whole is to avoid underwriting an expensive local project.

Only a man who does things on a colossal scale could have fashioned as big a flop as Mike Todd's party for 18,000 chums.

Eleanor Roosevelt has found that hordes of people inside Russia don't know much about the United States. Other astute observers have found that the people of the United States don't know much about the hordes inside Russia.

Who Will Be Successor To Adenauer?

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The venerable Konrad Adenauer, newly-elected West German Chancelor, is the most entrenched, secure political leader among the great Western powers today. President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Macmillan, and whoever momentarily becomes French Premier will almost certainly be out of office before Dr. Adenauer. Although he will be eighty-two next January, he shows no sign of letting up and no indication of stepping down.

Mr. Drummond

But this does not stop the German politicians and correspondents from speculating avidly — and sometimes anxiously — about his successor.

Is there anyone in sight to take his place and, if so, what kind of a man will he be and what kind of a Germany will he try to shape?

Adenauer has certainly not "selected" his successor as Winston Churchill selected Anthony Eden But it seemed possible throughout the election campaign that the Chancellor was quietly grooming and building public support for a member of the Adenauer team — his bluff, articulate sixty-year-old Economics Minister, Ludwig Erhard.

He is one of the few cabinet ministers who has outstanding political strength in his own right, second only to Adenauer himself. His own rallies brought out big crowds which warmly responsed to his robust personality and aggressive speeches.

Quite Pleased

When I recently called on him at his office in Bonn after the Adenauer sweep, I began by remarking that the Chancellor had singled him out for special mention night after night and suggested that if this had been done in the United States it would certainly have political significance

Erhard is a beaming, bouncy fellow and it is hard for one smile to be much bigger than the other. But this time he looked like the cat that swallowed the canary and, with all the directness of an American politician, he replied with his one English phrase of our talk: "No comment."

No comment was needed. He saw it the same way. It gave him no pain.

Another factor helping Dr. Erhard is that he obviously has financial backing outside his own party — this despite the fact that he, above all others, led the crusade to put through the Bundestag a new anti-cartel law which many of the big German industrialists do not relish.

I don't mean that the list of possible Adenauer successors ends with Erhard

'Take Charge' Man

There is the young, ambitious Franz-Joseph Strauss, forty-one West Germany's first Defense Minister, a "take charge" administrator, a rough-and-tumble orator, the man in charge of German rearmament.

There is Franz Etzel, fifty-three, presently senior Vice President of the European coal and steel community, a dedicated advocate of European integration.

There is Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano, fifty-eight, a skilled diplomatic technician, loyal supporter of Adenauer policies, but with little political magnetism.

There is the outside-runner, Eugen Gerstenmaier, a Protestant like Erhard, who has been President of the Bundestag since 1954.

But Dr. Erhard leads the pack, perhaps because he has presided over and contributed greatly to the policies which have brought the German people such transcendent prosperity since the war.

He is Western-oriented, a staunch ally of Western Europe and the free world He is the German equivalent of a liberal-minded Modern Republican who has played a large role in creating a dynamic, competitive economy capable of giving Germany a commanding voice as a great economic power.

Solves Labor Mystery at Sears

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Senate Rackets Committee has found the answer to a four-year-old mystery that may shatter the aplomb of white-maned, grandfatherly Nathan Shefferman who breezed through his first Senate hearing last spring but has now been subpoenaed for a return engagement under the klieg lights

Mr. Pearson

The four grandpa will be kept on the sidelines while a parade of witnesses, starting today, tell what they know about his amazing career as a professional company man They will testify that he used corrupt labor leaders like teamster bosses Dave Beck and Jimmy Hoffa, to suppress unions and flimflam the workers.

Biggest case has been turned up by chief counsel Bob Kennedy in his home state — a shocking story of how the Sears, Roebuck stores in Boston, Mass., overturned a three-to-one vote by their employees to affiliate with the Retail Clerks Union.

Kennedy will simply take up where the National Labor Relations Board left off four years ago Despite months of investigation and volumes of testimony, the NLRB never uncovered Shefferman's hidden hand in the Sears, Roebuck case

However, Kennedy has now found the missing link — a mysterious stranger who suddenly showed up in Boston to lead Sears' fight against the union. The official NLRB hearings identified him only by the name he called himself, James Guffey. But Kennedy's boys have learned that he is a man of many aliases whose real name is James Nielsen, a confessed embezzler on Shefferman's payroll.

The NLRB report charges that Sears employees were sent in small groups by their superiors to Nielsen's hotel room where, posing as Guffey, he cajoled and threatened them He called the American Federation of Labor "Communist - dominated" and warned that Sears would "never tolerate the AFL" as a bargaining agent, the NLRB report claims.

'Top Secret'

At one point, the report quotes Guffey as warning employees that their little sessions were "top secret" because they were in violation of the Taft-Hartley Law." The report also charges that Guffey helped organize a company union and gave it instructions on how to break the legitimate AFL union.

This column reached James Nielsen, alias Guffey, in Chicago.

"I don't think I have done a thing wrong legally or morally," he declared, though he admitted an embezzlement charge "way back in my youth."

Asked why he used phony names, he explained. "For the same reason Bob Kennedy used a different name in Seattle. He didn't want Dave Beck to know he was there. When I go out on a job, I don't want the unions to know about it. They would be gunning for me. Of course, I don't mean with real guns."

Sears, Roebuck managed to fend off an NLRB crackdown for nearly two years. Then, in one of the most amazing decisions on record, the NLRB acknowledged that the findings against Sears were true but simply called for another election.

This time the teamsters mysteriously came to Sears' rescue by claiming all the employees in one warehouse. This reduced the number of pro-union employees who were willing to risk their jobs to fight for affiliation with the retail clerks. Sears also used other high-pressure tactics, such as gathering dossiers on employees, grilling them to learn their union sentiments, forcing them to listen to anti-union speeches, and making false charges against the Retail Clerks.

In the second election, Sears won and the union was thrown out.

Significantly, this isn't the only time the Teamsters have helped Shefferman's clients by displacing another union and accepting substandard wages Kennedy's investigators have uncovered evidence that Shefferman has negotiated several so-called "sweetheart" contracts that benefitted the companies but left the workers empty-handed

This may explain why Shefferman entertained Beck and Hoffa so lavishly and showered them with purchases at wholesale prices.

In fact, the Senate Committee will charge that the 70-year-old Shefferman was frequently a middleman between corrupt union leaders and greedy employers in short-changing employees.

NOTE: At first glance, Senators were startled at Shefferman's resemblance to their former chairman, ex-Sen. Homer Ferguson, (R., Mich.)

Royal Postscript

Queen Elizabeth's arrival in Washington was rehearsed with the care and security of a wartime maneuver. The military District of Washington issued a secret 50-page 'security order" containing elaborate instructions for the Queen's safety from the moment she deplaned, and even diagramming where the President and other official greeters would stand at Washington airport. Incoming commercial planes were allowed to land on schedule during the greeting ceremonies, but, to keep down the noise, takeoffs were banned and the airport was closed to all private planes. Even so, security officials had some anxious moments when a private twin-engined C-45 plane somehow got through the security "screen" and flew directly over the Queen at 1,500 feet as she stood with President Eisenhower on the welcoming platform. Airport officials immediately began an investigation.

West Finally Plans Form of Cooperation

By CHARLES M. McCANN

The United States and Great Britain evidently have decided to end at last a long and dangerous lapse in Allied relations.

The decision has been forced upon them by Soviet Russia's successes in the fields of diplomacy and nuclear science.

Mr. McCann

It is indicated hta the conference between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, starting in Washington on Wednesday, will be only the first of a series of meetings of high allied leaders in Washington and London.

The threatening situation in the Middle East, where Russia has built up a big and patently false propaganda campaign against Turkey, naturally will be one topic for discussion.

Discuss Russia's Success

But undoubtedly the big topic will be Russia's success in testing an intercontinental ballistic missile and launching the "Sputnik" earth satellite

Russia's success in this field has been made possible largely by its form of government.

The big strength of a totalitarian regime is that it can concentrate the whole energy of a nation upon any project it likes instead of waiting —like the democracies — for a crisis like Pearl Harbor to wake up the government and people.

Russia for years has had its scientists working together as one team on the development of nuclear weapons and of space missiles like Sputnik.

All this time, the United States and Britain have been working independently in this field.

Britain Makes Progress

Britain has developed its own H-bomb and is hinting at the development soon of new and potent nuclear weapons. It is making notable progress in developing atomic energy for peaceful uses.

In addition, in the United States, the Army, Navy and Air Force have been working not only independently but actually against each other in a tragic race to take the lead.

There seems hope now that all this is going to end, and that the Eisenhower — Macmillan conference will mark the beginning of the end insofar as interallied cooperation is concerned.

Toy World Set Back By Soviet Satellite

By VIVIAN SANDE

NEW YORK (UP)—The toy world is sputtering while Sputnik beeps.

Seems that, like American space scientists, the toy industry was caught off guard by the Russian satellite's unexpected trip into outer space Toy makers were offering a few satellite toys for small space enthusiasts (more launchers than satellites) and waiting for the American satellite launching to give the toy space world its big push

Ever since the Russian moonlet took to its orbit around the earth on Friday, Oct. 4, toyland has been so bombarded with orders for satellite toys, or any reasonable facsimile thereof, it is rocked to its very foundations.

"Sales have jumped one - thousand per cent," said John Feiffer of Macy's.

Gimbels confirmed the trend, as did other toy shops around town.

Sales Zoom

Ideal Toys, manufacturers of three satellite toys, joyfully reported a jump of 500 to 600 per cent in orders for its satellite launcher, its skysweeper truck, and its ICBM intercontinental ballistics missile launcher.

"We're going crazy trying to keep up with the orders," said Mel Helitzer for the company. "Our factories can't keep pace."

One company admitted it hastily recolored and renamed what was known last year as an atomic-type truck to space-type truck launcher to conform to the demand. This sort of thing, a spokesman insisted, is not unknown in the toy industry when quick coversion can cash in on a new trend.

Arnold Bolka, president of the trade research organization in New York, which specializes in studying trends in styles and sales in toys, said there's been nothing like this in the industry since the Davy Crockett boom.

"But this is much more revolutionary," he added "The Davy Crockett boom lasted less than a year and now there's nothing deader

Boom Seen Lasting

'We predict this earth-satellite boom will last—right through Christmas and next year It will grow and change as the scientific world grows and changes in the field of intercontinental wonders . . maybe even ahead of them"

Bolka said there are quite a few new satellite, or allied toys in this year's crop, bringing the total to a baker's dozen or so, including board games, balloons, costumes, trackers, launchers and trains and trucks. He predicts the number will be noticeably increased very soon

"I bet the designers are working over their drawing boards right now," he said

But those new toys, said the expert, won't be ready for the market until next year.

As far as anyone knows, no satellite toy actually has been named "Sputnik."

"Earth satellite," said one industry observer, "is just as good . . .and much less controversial"

Eleanor J. Barna, Neil F. King Wed

Announcement is being made here of the marriage of Eleanor Joan Barna and Neil Frederick King, which took place in Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church of McKeesport on Saturday, Oct. 5.

The bride is the daughter of Michael E. Barna of 3601 Dunn St., McKeesport, and the late Anna Kline Barna, a former resident of Monessen. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kline, Meadow Ave., Charleroi, former local residents. Mr. King is the son of Mrs. Dorothy King of 503 Vilsack Rd., Glenshaw.

The Rev. Edward Duvell officiated at the 9 a.m. nuptial high mass, and the organist was Margaret Hubans.

Baskets of white gladiolus appointed the main altar and ferns decorated the entrance to the sanctuary. White crash lined the main aisle of the church and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given by Father

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a wedding gown of rosepoint lace styled with a scalloped sabrina neckline and long sleeves ending in points at the wrists. The bouffant skirt was styled in crystal pleated tiers which tapered into a chapel train. She wore a lace pillbox with pearl and sequin trim to hold her fingertip veil. She carried a lace covered Prayer Book topped with a white orchid and lilies of the valley and tied with streamers knotted with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Fred Owsiany of Monessen, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Joan Gerken of Pittsburgh, cousin of the bridegroom, Marlene Pomycala, McKeesport, friend of the bride, and Jane Marchezak of Bentleyville, a cousin of the bride.

Attired Alike

The attendants were attired alike in ballerina length gowns of bronze velvet and champagne beige peau de soie. The bodice was made of velvet and the skirt of peau de soie. Champagne colored cummerbunds accented the gowns. The girls wore open crowned hats of bronze velvet. They carried matching muffs covered with sprays of pompons in bronze and gold, which were intermingled with ivy sprays and bronze streamers.

Richard Neff of Pittsburgh, uncle of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Ronald Sveck of Port Vue, friend of the bridegroom, Donald Gerken of Pittsburgh, cousin of the groom, and Michael Barna Jr., brother of the bride.

Mrs. King, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of beige lace with a bronze satin sash, bronze accessories and a corsage of gold and bronzeq pompons. Mrs. Kline, grandmother of the bride, selected dior blue lace and crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

A breakfast was served after the ceremony at Hall Park, Civic Hall, Eden Park Blvd., McKeesport. Later there was a dinner and reception there for about 150 guests. Bronze and gold pompons and other appointments of crystal were used in the serving of refreshments.

Pocono Trip

When the couple left for a trip to the Poconos the bride was wearing a beige wool dress with a matching hat and other accessories of alligator.

The bride is a graduate of McKeesport Technical High School and is employed as a secretary at Westinghouse Atomic Power Division, Bettis Field. Her husband was graduated from McKeesport Vocational School and is serving with the air force at Davis- Monthan A. F. Base, Tucson, Arizona.

The night before the wedding an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Steve Marchizak, entertained at a rehearsal party at the home of the bride. Both the bride and groom gave their attendants gifts.

The bride was feted at several pre-nuptial showers including one held here by her grandmother, Mrs. Kline, and aunts, Mrs. Owsiany and Mrs. Marchezak.

Auxiliary Sets Banquet Date

The Franco-Belgium Ladies Auxiliary scheduled the postponed banquet for Nov. 11. It will be held at Twin Coaches.

All those planning to attend are asked to contact any member of the committee, Mary Vernet, Ma Mary Palmintera, Jennie Guibourdanche, Angeline Zyski, Mary Dropp, Edna Milarbe by Friday of this week.

Stan Set for Another Season or Two

Stan (the Man) Musial, Donora's gift to major league baseball, announced at a dinner in Pittsburgh Sunday night that he would be playing "baseball for at least another season or two" . . . Considering Stan this year copped the National League batting title at 36 years of age, he apparently isn't slowing up . . . Sunday's dinner was sponsored by the Polish-American Congress at the annual Pulaski Day dinner with Stan as an honor guest . . . Speaking of Donora, Billy Russell, former Dragon halfback star, continues to set the pace for the University of Detroit football team which is enjoying considerable success this season . . . He is a top ground gainer despite being unable to penetrate paydirt territory.

* * *

Former Har-Brack football standout Cookie Gilchrist is currently performing for the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Canadian League where one of his teammates is Bernie Faloney of West View . . . McKeesport's Jim Trimble, former Philadelphia Eagles' star is the Ticat coach . . . Local Mon Valley Women's Duckpin League teams are getting a nice play in Pittsburgh papers and deservedly so with the top scores being rolled by some of the local bowlers like Babe Kroskie, Pauline Burdock, Mary Palm, Ruth Boal and Martha Venturni to mention just a few . . . When Penn State's second unit takes the field the remainder of the season, three centers will be in the middle of the Nittany Lion line, Brownsville's Steve Garban at the pivot post, understudies Earl (Bud) Kohlhaas and Sam Stellatella at the guard positions.

District Gridders Frosh Starters

Monongahela's Fred Cox started in the Pitt frosh backfield in Saturday's game with the Penn State freshmen which the Lion yearlings won, 13-6 . . . Charleroi followers must have recalled memories of their 16-13 loss to Jeannette when they read where ex-Jeannette quarterback Dick Hoak passed to Jim Kerr in the second period for the winning touchdown . . . Centerville's Bob Worrell was in the starting Lion Frosh backfield while Connellsville's Jim Cunningham was in the Pitt first-team quartet, for the ball-carrying chores.

* * *

Our traveling buddy Lou Kichinko has returned "chockful" of information on the recent trip he made to the Pacific coast and Mexico . . . Lou started meeting sports celebrities in Pittsburgh when he ran into Tommy Henrich, the ex-Yankee, now a Giant coach, who got his baseball start in Monessen . . . Next he met Harry Craft, Kansas City pilot, another who got his start here, for a visit we previously told you about but we didn't realize that the double header KC won was the first twin bill they had copped this season . . . Lou then took in the Michigan-Southern Cal grid tilt, the ULCA-Illini contest, the Rams-Eagles battle and then the Long Beach College game and finally the Pitt-Southern Cal clash . . . As if that wasn't enough he saw two grid tilts in Mexico' . . . More later.

Decisiveness of Pitt Loss Surprise

Pitt's loss to Army Saturday might not have been a surprise to some fans but surely the decisiveness with which Army won certainly must have shocked a few Panther die-hards . . . Speaking of Pitt, we were asked why we wrote last week that Notre Dame fans could relax until the Irish meet Michigan State and Oklahoma, apparently ignoring Pitt . . . Although Pitt looked anything but like a team to worry about in the second half Saturday the column item here only was meant to infer that Irish faithful figure the NDs have a chance in the Pitt and Navy games but they aren't so sure about the Okie and Spartan tilts. (That is they weren't sure until the MS loss to Purdue Saturday).

Sportsman May Seek IL Franchise for Brooklyn

By OSCAR FRALEY

TOKYO (UP)— Bill McDonald, wealthy international sportsman from Miami Beach, Fla., disclosed today that on his return to the United States next week he would take steps to obtain an International League franchise in Brooklyn.

"International League officials contacted me just before I left to attend the International Trophy and Canada Cup golf matches in Tokyo this weekend," McDonald revealed. "I can say that I am definitely interested."

Everything would depend, he said, on whether he could make a deal with Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who still holds a two-year lease on Ebbets Field.

"If I get a franchise, which I am quite certain that I can, and if I can make a sensible deal with O'M alley, there will be baseball in Brooklyn next spring," McDonald asserted. "But I am not going into this thing to use or be used as a club to bid up somebody financially."

McDonald, who owns the Tampa team in the Florida State League, said that if his plan went through he probably would hire "one of the old Brooklyn heroes" as manager. It gave rise to speculation that he might make an offer to Jackie Robinson, who at Brooklyn became the first Negro to play in organized baseball.

McDonald, who has made a tremendous fortune in mobile housing, said that he was prepared to finance the whole venture himself

Hart Says JHS Light But Fast

Although sporting only three holdovers on the 1957 Johnstown grid squad Coach Dave Hart has come up with another team which can pull a surprise when least expected.

The past three seasons the Johnnies have had just so-so experience from the previous season but when the final records are posted the Hartmen are near the top as the 27-4-1 record he has posted there the past three seasons will attest.

Hart welcomed back lads like Bill Foust, 165-pound letterman fullback, Ted Gifura a senior quarterback, Joe Davallo a converted fullback at center with his 180 pounds and Joe Fabry a 177-pound holdover also in the center race.

"Speed is our main forte," Hart stated, "but we don't have the weight to go with it."

'Light' Team

Nevertheless Johnstown was able to post impressive victories over Redstone, and ex-WPIAL contender Duquesne with the "light" team.

Comparative scores mean very little but against two mutual foes, Windber and Redstone, the scores showed Monessen losing to Windber 38-37, Johnstown on the other end of a 20-18 count, the locals topping Redstone 38-13, the Johnnies clipping the 'Hawks, 27-0.

In other words the comparative scores would almost rate the teams even.

One surprise which would be terrific news for Coach Armand Niccolai of the 'Hounds would be the return to action of top-notch tackle James (Bobo) Aldrich, who has been out since the Windber game. Bobo got in a little action Friday night against Redstone and apparently felt no ill effects.

Parker Shakes Up Defensive Steeler Line

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Coach Buddy Parker may shake up his Pittsburgh Steeler offensive line today as a result of the unit's shoddy play against the New York Giants

Parker may move guard Sid Fournet and tackle Willie McClung to the defensive team and replace them with Dave Liddick and Ernie Stautner Parker was reported displeased with the ease in which the Giants handled his offensive linesmen.

Four Steelers suffered minor injuries in the New York game but should be ready for Sunday's game at Forbes Field with the Philadelphia Eagles. Nursing a various assortment of hurts were end Bill McPeak, center Ed Beatty, slot back Elbie Nickel and quarterback Earl Morrall

The Pittsburgh front office reported that the $52,634 payoff from the Giant game was the highest ever received by the team Previous high was $50,568 for the Detroit Lion game in Briggs Stadium last year.

Mechanical-1 Sets New Page Records

Mechanical No 1 set two new records in making clean sweep of Electric in the Page League Bowling last night Supervisors topped Mechanical No. 2 last night.

The marks set were the high team single game and the high team three-game totals of 1186 and 3403.

Floyd Todd holds the old individual marks of 257 single game and 622 three-game high.

Last night's top bowler was Steve Ruby with a 216-611. Joan Trico had a 217-516 and Jim McNeil rolled a 207-454 to trail Ruby closely. Other top scorers were Francis Flanagan, Floyd Todd, Frank Prezgar, Russ Zollars and Alex Hubans.

Standings — Stainless 17 - 4, Mechanical 1 — 15-6, Galvanize 14-7, Electric 13-8, Cold Roll 10-11, Mechanical 2-8-13, Testing 4-17, and Supervisors 3-18.

Panthers Seen at Full Strength For Notre Dame.

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A somewhat deflated University of Pittsburgh team was expected to be at full strength for its encounter with Notre Dame Saturday at South Bend, Ind

Pittsburgh, dropped to fourth place in the Lambert ratings as a result of Saturday's loss to Army, had only one ailing gridder when it opened practice Monday. Center Charley Brueckman had a bruised leg, but was expected to be ready for the Irish.

The Panthers last week led the competition for the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of Eastern football supremacy, but are now in fourth place. Army was rated first, Navy second and Syracuse third.

Saturday's game with Notre Dame marks the 24th meeting between the two teams. The contest was reported a sellout, with 57,000 expected to be on hand.

Renfro May Play

CLEVELAND (UP)— Fleet halfback Ray Renfro, who suffered a finger injury in Sunday's game with the Philadelphia Eagles, may be able to play for the Cleveland Browns next Sunday against the Chicago Cardinals, according to team physician Dr. Vic Ippolito. Ippolito said Renfro's finger was dislocated and not broken as originally feared.

Williams in TV Fight

NEW YORK (UP)—Ernie (Sonny Boy) Williams of Washington, D C., has replaced Paolo Rosi of Italy as an opponent for Johnny Busso in next Friday night's TV bout at Madison Square Garden. Rosi withdrew because of flu.

Tonight's Midget Tilts Can Decide 1957 Title; Jefferson 11 Favored

Victory Over Vocational Would Sew it Up For DeMarcomen; Game Time 7 p. m.

Coach Carmen DeMarco sends his unbeaten Jefferson Midget gridders against Winless Vocational tonight in the second game of a twin bill in a contest which may decide the 1957 champions here.

Opening game time tonight is 7 o'clock, 15 minutes earlier than usual with a contest between Frank-Lin and Lincoln, both still in the title running, set to post victories then hope Vocational can pull a terrific upset and nip the Jeffs.

Current standings show Jefferson with a 4-0 record, Lincoln and Frank-Lin with 2-2 marks and Vocational, defending champions, with a chart of 0-4.

Tonight's card was postponed from Oct. 1 when the flu epidemic first hit the area.

Finale Next Week

Next Tuesday will be the final night of regular action as the teams play off Oct. 15 games also postponed due to the flu. Scheduled for next week are Jefferson and Lincoln in the opener and Vocational and Frank-Lin in the follow-up game.

Tonight, the Jeffs can cop the title with a victory for a 5-0 record against the next best mark which will be 4-2 unless Frank-Lin and Lincoln tie They would then be too far away from Jefferson even with a defeat next week for the DeMarcomen.

Coach Bucky Lutes of Vocational, who has been taking his lumps this season would like nothing better than to swing an upset tonight.

Mooney Katchmarik of the Frank-Lins and Dale Simpson of the Lincoln eleven will be going all out to stay on Jefferson's heels or at least finish second so tonight's action promises to be thrilling.

Fight Results

BRISTOL, Conn —Charley Norkus, 197½, Port Washington, N Y., stopped Leo (Mule) Johnson, 184½ Charlotte, N C. (5).

Vets, Legionnaires To 'Work' Tonight

The local VFW and American Legion posts are requested to handle the usual details taken care of by organizations, at tonight's Midget League encounters.

Next week the Eagles and Chamber of Commerce are asked to assist with the Lions handling the All-Star game on November 12.

Myers, Salay High In PS Office Loop

Harry Myers and Jim Salay shared top scoring honors in the Pittsburgh Steel Company office bowling league last night at the CIO alleys.

Myers rolled a 526 three-game mark, Salay had a 218 single game. Fred Owsiany, Larry Evancho, Bob Sterdis and Bernie Single were next in line in the scoring parade.

Production, Shipping and General office won last night's matches

Standings — Production 16-5, Payroll 14-6, Engineers 10-11, General 10-11, Order 9-12, and Shipping 4-17.

Denego Posts New Finishing SE Mark

M Denego set a new single game record in Finishing Side Electric League Bowling last night as GE, E. C. and M and Reliance won last night's matches.

Denego also rolled a three-game high of 515. J. Fleming, R Bernardo, Cipriani, Leno and Kuvinka also posted top scores.

Standings — Westinghouse 16-5, GE 14-7, Pitt-Carbon 13-8, Reliance 8-13, E. E. and M. 7-14 and, Clark 5-16.

St. Lucy and St Margaret won over St Catherine and St. Monica in St. Cajetan Ladies Bowling League action last night.

R. Singel paced the scoring with 191-407, followed by C. Palm, B. Manderino and S. Pasterick

Standings — St. Lucy 6-6, St. Catherine 8-4, St. Margaret 3-9, St. Monica 7-5.

"I've killed a child!"

"Never had an accident before. Never been in trouble with the law. Always tried to do right by my family and friends . . . they'll tell you. Now I've killed a child—just by taking a foolish chance."

Every day it happens, often just like that, to drivers who thought accidents happen only to the other fellow.

Remember this. No one expects to meet death on the road. Certainly no one expects to be guilty of causing it. Yet, last year 40,000 men, women and children died in traffic accidents.

Thousands of drivers—many who never had or expected to have an accident—found themselves guilty of killing someone on the highway. Most of these deaths can be prevented—with your cooperation.

BACK THE ATTACK ON TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Here's how you can help stop traffic tragedies:

1 Drive safely and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning-signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!

2 Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

"What good does it do a girl to learn how to kick?"

East Germans Rap West Athletics as Spying 'Agents'

FRANKFURT, Oct. 22 (UP)— East and West Germany formed a common team for the last Olympics, but today they seem farther apart than ever in the field of sports.

The latest blast in the running battle between sports officials of the divided country was fired by the East Germans after Gerhard Kieszling, former national ice hockey coach, fled to the West and found a job with the Preussen Krefeld club.

East German officials said West German hockey officials had "plotted Kieszling's treachery" for several months in an attempt to "sabotage" the development of hockey as a people's sport in East Germany.

The East Germans have been stepping up their attacks against West German sports organizations in general.

The Communist Party paper, Neues Deutschland, recently called visiting West German athletes "agents, disguised as sportsmen, who come to our democratic republic for subversive machinations." East German sports boss Rudi Reichert has called the Deutscher Sportbund — the West German equivalent of the AAU— a "center of espionage" directed against East Germany.

West German officials, while denying all East German allegations, think the campaign is aimed at forcing the International Olympic Committee to recognize the existence of two separate Germanys —even at the cost of breaking off all sports relations with West Germany.

Anderson vs. Gonzales

NEWARK, N.J. (UP)—Tex Gonzales of East Orange, N.J., and Jay Anderson of Philadelphia have signed for an eight-round middleweight bout at Laurel Garden on Nov. 26.

Red China Athletes Seen Among Top Ratings by 1964 Olympics

LONDON (UP)— Red China's giant, Russian-inspired program for the development of sports is producing its first fruit.

This year, for the first time since the Communists grabbed power, Red Chinese athletes have performed creditably. If their progress continues on the same lines, Red China might be a major power in sports by the 1964 Olympics.

Ironically, it is an American sport in which the Red Chinese have made the biggest impression this year — basketball.

A Communist Chinese basketball team, under-size, but catquick and perfect ball-handlers, made its first appearance in the West in the recent Paris World University games. It breezed past a number of highly regarded European teams before its players — apparently unaccustomed to tight Western tournament schedules — tired and faltered in final-round play.

In athletics, weight-lifting, swimming, gymnastics and soccer the Chinese have also approached top international standards this year.

Good Performers

International Olympic Committee President Avery Brundage, after watching a group of Red Chinese athletes perform in the recent International Track and Field Championships of Romania at Bucharest, said: "They have made very good performances. I can see a very great deal of progress in a short time."

Star of the group was 20-year-old Peking University student, Miss Tsen Fu Yung, who cleared 5 feet, 8½ inches (1.74 meters) in the high jump—only three-quarters of an inch (0.02 meters) less than the world record of America's Olympic winner Mildred McDaniel.

Chinese sports, according to Communist sports magazines reaching here, is patterned entirely on the Russian setup. The build-up began in 1949 when an "All-Chinese Council for Physical Culture and Sport" was created by the Communist regime and given almost unlimited funds, vast powers and orders to make sports popular in China.

Trained By Russians

During the first years, the council's main activity was to build up an army of coaches and instructors. According to Communist reports, thousands were sent to the Soviet Union to learn from the Russians. Supreme direction was then taken over by the "Research Committee of Sports Scientists," all of them Russian-trained, and some of them possibly even Russians.

According to the Communist sources, Red Chinese athletes have set 19 national records in track and field alone this year. Here are some of the records, and, in brackets, the place it would have earned the athlete in last Olympics at Melbourne:

Men—High jump 6 ft. 6¾ in. (2 meters) by Ma Hsing Lung (6th place); pole vault 14 ft. 2½ in. (4.32 meters) by Csaj I Shu (5th); long jump 24 ft. 3 in. (7.39 meters) by Hao Shu Kuai (5th); hop, step and jump 50 ft. 4 in. (15.35 meters) by Li Chun Ho (12th).

Women—80 meters hurdles; Liu Yu Yung, 11.2 seconds (5th); 100 meters; Chen Ji Min 12.1 seconds (—); 200 meters; Miss Chen 24.8 (—); high jump; Miss Tsen 5 ft. 8⅛ in. (2nd).

Unbeaten College Teams Number 53

NEW YORK (UP)— A total of 53 college football teams, including eight major powers, remain unbeaten and untied at the season's halfway mark.

A United Press survey revealed today that the only major college elevens with spotless records are Duke, Mississippi, Texas A & M, Iowa, Oklahoma, Dartmouth, Auburn and Notre Dame. Oklahoma, of course, is working on a record 44-game winning streak.

West Chester (Pa.) State Teachers is the highest scorer of the 53 teams with 202 points in five games.

Pittsburg (Kan.) Teachers and Eastern New Mexico have won the most games — six each—while Juniata (Pa.) and Prairie View (Tex.) have won two each.

No Pigeons As Lynch Fails to Impress in Win

NEW YORK (UP) — Welterweight Eddie Lynch, New York stevedore, blamed a cold in the head today rather than the absence of pigeons for his failure to win more impressively over substitute Yvon Turenne of Montreal in their TV 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

Lynch, 149½ pounds, had to be content with a split decision over the awkwardly aggressive Montreal brick layer, 153½.

Seven special agents of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, five uniformed police and two patrol cars outside the Arena made certain that Lynch's admirers from Pier 96 released no pigeons during the bout nor caused any near-riot — as they did at his last fight on Aug. 5.

Cold Not Pigeons

"The pigeons had nothing to do with it," Lynch declared. "I got a bad cold in my head after the weigh-in. If I'd been in shape I'd of stopped Turenne."

Lynch's countering left jabs and left hooks to the head beat the rugged Canadian body-puncher. Referee Harry Ebbets favored Lynch on rounds, 7-2-1, as did Judge Bill Forst, 8-2. But Judge Leo Birnbaum had Turenne ahead 5-4-1. The United Press scored for Lynch, 6-2-2.

Turenne substituted for Danny Russo of Brooklyn, who was found to have symptoms of the flu at Monday's weigh-in. Turenne, 23, had been notified last Friday to be ready to fight Lynch, 22, in case Russo was rejected Monday.

Blames Loss Of Weight

"But I had to take off seven pounds in three days to get the bout," Turenne explained. "It weakened me."

Russo had won a split decision over Lynch in their semi-riotous bout at St. Nick's, Aug. 5. That was the night Lynch's followers released pigeons and caused such confusion that two spectators were hit by flying chairs and carted off to a hospital.

Monday night's victory was the 12th for Lynch in 14 fights. It was the fifth defeat for Turenne in 23.

Pistons Release Two

DETROIT (UP)— Rookies Johnny Kline of Wayne State and Bill Bodouva of Pratt Institute were released Monday by the Detroit Pistons in order to get down to the 11-player National Basketball Association limit.

Kuharich Claims 'Skins Still in NFL Title Race

WASHINGTON (UP)— Big Joe Kuharich, who's pessimistic when he wins and philosophical when he loses, insisted today his Washington Redskins are not out of the National Football League's title race.

The Redskins' 44-14 clobbering at the hands of the Chicago Cardinals Sunday left them with a 1-3 record. But Kuharich commented:

"We're just where we were after four games a year ago — and last year it was at that point when we took off on a five-game winning streak."

Kuharich wasn't predicting any repeat performance of that 1956 spurt in which the Redskins were merrily knocking off such front-runners as Cleveland, New York and Detroit. But he said his '57 team in many ways is "more solid" than last year's team and has the potential to start some scalping of its own.

"Believe it or not, I saw some bright spots in that pasting we took Sunday," Joe added. "Sure the defense got bombed, but for the third week in a row our offense gained more than 300 yards —and offense has been our chief weakness for the past three years."

"Everyone counted us out when we dropped our first three games in '56," Kuharich recalled, "but we gave the Giants a run for their money. I won't give up on this team, either."

Some sports writers covering the Redskins think the defensive unit —in the past a bristling, hard-hitting bunch of veterans — is showing signs of aging this season. But Kuharich denied this.

"They didn't look old when we were licking the Cards two weeks ago or against the Giants last week," Joe pointed out. "The trouble is, sports writers and fans don't always give credit to the backs on the other guy's team. A player like Ollie Matson, when he's hot as he was Sunday, can make any defense look lousy. A guy like Matson busts loose and people blame it on poor tackling.

Surprisingly enough, Washington owner George Preston Marshall has taken the Redskins' misfortunes calmly.

"I think we've got a good team," he commented. "We'll get going."

Pastrano Choice Over Richardson In Bout Tonight

LONDON (UP) — Willie Pastrano, a light-footed boxer from New Orleans, was rated a 2-1 favorite today to beat Dick Richardson, England's "Mauling Milkman," in their 10-round heavyweight bout at Harringay Arena.

A sellout crowd of 10,600 was assured, with the top of $14.70 for a seat indicating a gate of about $80,000.

Pastrano was a 3-1 favorite when the fighters began training but could be no better than 8-5 when they enter the ring. Ex-heavyweight contender Tommy Farr and two respected British fight writers Monday picked Richardson to win — making it almost certain that the price will come down on Pastrano.

Pastrano, fourth-ranked among the world's heavyweights, trained in London while Richardson worked in a camp in the rugged Welsh hills. Both appeared to be in top condition when they motored to the site of the bout Monday and met with reporters.

Where Are They Now?

JOE LOUIS

In 1934, a strong, 20-year-old youngster from Detroit started rolling up a streak of 27 victories that made him the hottest heavyweight prospect since Jack Dempsey. Young Joe Louis finally met his match when Max Schmeling knocked him out in 1936. Louis came back to win the heavyweight title from James J. Braddock in 1937, knocked out Schmeling in the first round of a return bout in 1938 and ruled as champ until he retired in 1949.

What happened to Joe Louis? Today, still fit at 43, he is an official of the International Boxing Club.

Oklahoma Replaces Michigan State Again as Top Grid Team in UP Poll

By FRANK LITSKY

NEW YORK (UP)— The Oklahoma Sooners, whose second team may be better than the first, climbed back to the top today in the college football ratings of the United Press Board of Coaches.

After a weekend of upsets which cut down four members of the top 10 and resulted in the biggest shuffle of the season, Oklahoma was rated first by 29 of the 35 leading coaches who make up the board. Michigan State, which dropped Oklahoma to second place last week for only the second time in two years, fell all the way to seventh place.

Michigan State, Minnesota, Oregon State and Arkansas suffered the major upsets and all but Michigan State fell from the top 10. Replacing the other beaten teams were Army, Mississippi and Ohio State.

Behind the Sooners in the latest ratings came five other unbeaten and untied teams, all surviving the upset wave to move up. Iowa advanced from fifth to second with 266 points; Texas A & M from fourth to third with 255; Duke sissippi ninth with 62 and Ohio State 10th with 37.

Minnesota dropped from third to a 12th-place tie and Oregon State from sixth to fourth with 228; idle Notre Dame from eighth to fifth with 159; and Auburn from 10th to sixth with 155.

Michigan State, a 20-13 victim of a Purdue team which hadn't won previously this fall, was seventh with 152 points. Then came the three newcomers — Army in eighth place with 64 points, Mississippi from seventh to a tie for 19th. Arkansas, ninth last week, failed to receive even one point this time after absorbing a 17-0 drubbing from Texas.

College Grid Ratings

NEW YORK (UP)— The United Press college football ratings (with first-place votes and won-lost records in parentheses):

1.	Oklahoma (29) (4-0)	341
2.	Iowa (1) (4-0)	266
3.	Texas A&M (1) (5-0)	255
4.	Duke (1) (5-0)	228
5.	Notre Dame (3-0)	159
6.	Auburn (4-0)	155
7.	Michigan St. (1) (3-1)	152
8.	Army (3-1)	64
9.	Mississippi (1) (5-0)	62
10.	Ohio State (3-1)	37

Second 10 teams—11, Rice, 31; 12 (tie), UCLA and Minnesota, 19 each; 14, North Carolina State, 18; 15, Navy, 17; 16, Michigan, 16; 17, Texas (1) 15; 18, Louisiana State, 14; 19, Oregon, 9; 20 (tie), Oregon State and Illinois, 7 each.

Others — Dartmouth, Colorado and Tennessee, 5 each; Penn State and Arizona (Tempe) State, 4 each; Syracuse, 3; Wisconsin and Maryland, 2 each; Pittsburgh, Missouri, South Carolina and Texas Western, 1 each.

Satterfield Wins; Gordon Kayoes Hughes in Third

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Johnny Satterfield of Chicago sidetracked Garvin Sawyer's bid for a rating in the heavyweight ranks Monday night by punching out a split decision over the Cincinnati battler.

Satterfield, 181½, dropped Sawyer for a three count in the 10th round. But Sawyer, who is managed by Tom Tannas of Arnold, got up and stayed away to last the distance. He weighed 188½.

Judge George Martzo and Referee Ernie Sesto voted for Satterfield, 46-44. Judge George Lupinacci gave Sawyer the edge, 45-44.

Jersey Joe Walcott, former heavyweight champion who worked in Sawyer's corner, said Sawyer injured his right elbow in the first round. He said the injury handicapped Sawyer throughout the 10-round fight.

A crowd of 986 fans paid a gross gate of $2,272 at the Enright Theater to watch the fight.

In the eight round semi-windup Bobby Gordon, an Ohioan who has moved to Charleroi, continued to build up his local reputation by knocking out Bobby Hughes of the Northside at 2:59 of the third round.

Hughes, 162. Gordon is managed by Dr. C. H. Rosenbloom of Charleroi.

Reclamation Project Closes Virgin Run

Virgin Run Lake in Fayette County, built by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission and completed in 1953, will be off the fishing list for several months as a result of a study and reclamation project started there this week. According to Gordon Trembley, Chief Aquatic Biologist of the Commission, the lake will be drawn down, the desirable fishes salvaged and the remaining pool and feeder stream subjected to chemical treatment.

When these operations are completed the lake will be allowed to refill, during which time it will be restocked. It is expected to be open again to fishing by next spring.

Draw Down Started

The draw down of the lake was started on Wednesday. If its level is sufficiently low by next Monday, the fish salvage operation will get underway. Nets will be employed and all fish caught will be counted, weighed and subject to growth studies. "We are also greatly interested in determining the ratio between the desirable fishes and those species which contribute nothing to the fisherman's creel," Trembley said. The desirable fishes will be transferred to nearby fishing waters or held at one of the Commission's hatcheries.

Trembley added, "Those small and trash fish that remain will be destroyed by the chemical treatment of the pool and the feeder stream. These fish likewise will be tabulated, then buried. What we learn in these studies will serve as a guide in the future management of this and other waters." The biologist reiterated that the substance used in reclamation work is harmless to humans and livestock. It affects only fish and other gill breathing organisms.

'Fished-out' Claim

The Commission's decision to include Virgin Run Lake on its study and reclamation agenda this year was in part prompted by the "fished-out" contention of many who regularly fish its waters. Two weeks ago, the Commission built lake at Glade Run in Butler County received similar attention.

The project crew is comprised of Fish Commission personnel, including members of its warden and hatchery forces, and biologists under the direction of Daniel Heyl, Fishery Manager of the Southwestern region of the State.

Don't despair! Get perfect deep-frying results every time!
Get a Burner-with-a-Brain Matchless GAS Range

When you deep-fry, the temperature of the fat HAS to be EXACTLY right. If it's too cold, the grease soaks through the food. If it goes over smoking point, food gets a scorched flavor. Now! The new Burner-with-a-Brain keeps the temperature exactly right—AUTOMATICALLY!

Just dial the correct French frying temperature (325° to 400°). When it's reached, the Gas flame turns itself down to KEEP that exact temperature. Put in more cold, raw potatoes, the flame immediately turns itself up.

Only Gas flame can raise the heat so fast that foods don't get a chance to become greasy. Even expensive separate deep-fryers aren't fast enough.

So get a new matchless Gas range with an automatic top burner. Enjoy perfect French frying. End potwatching and burned foods!

Fellsburg Woman's Club Makes Trip to Pittsburgh

The regular October meeting of the Fellsburg Woman's Club was in the form of a bus trip to Beck's Charter Oaks in Pittsburgh. Twenty-seven members boarded the bus in Fellsburg at 10 a. m.

A short business meeting was held at the Carriage House preceding the serving of lunch. To open the meeting, Mrs. Earl Byers read the club collect. The secretary's report was read and approved. The treasurer's report was given. She also reported that the bazaar held recently was a financial success.

These committee reports were given:

Program — Mrs. Wilbur Lender announced the speaker for next month will be Mrs. Cecelia Cairns whose subject will be, "Your Hat and You".

Ways and Means — Mrs. Robert Kramer thanked all who helped to make the bazaar the success that it was. She also presented a plan to sell fruitcakes for the holidays. The plan was accepted.

Winning special prizes at the bazaar were Mrs. M. Malis, Mrs. James Greenwood and Mr. Penak.

Welfare — Mrs. Herbert Schulz asked that all members bring Christmas gifts to the November meeting for the County Home. The gifts will be wrapped at the meeting.

Mrs. Ralph Knight read the correspondence. An announcement of a Sewing Contest being sponsored by the Federation of Women's Clubs was read. An invitation from the Irwin Junior Women's Club to attend their "Capers of 57" was also received.

Following lunch, the group was taken on a guided tour through the Galleries of Beck's Charter Oaks.

Alfred Hamilton and son Buddy, along with Herbert Shulz of Fellsburg, are in Kane County where they are turkey hunting.

Fellsburg Girl Scouts Hold Halloween Party

The Girl Scouts of Troop 64, Fellsburg, held their annual Halloween party Thursday evening at the Fells Methodist Church.

The basement was decorated in traditional fashion with black cats, witches, etc. by Doris Jones and Carol Higgins. Refreshments were served by Donna Rue and Mary Ann Uram. Marlene Martak and Marlene Hixenbaugh were in charge of the entertainment.

Eleven girls were present along with their leader, Mrs. Irvin Rue, co-leader Mrs. Henry Lynn and Mrs. Marvin Hixenbaugh, committee mother.

Prizes went as follows: Mary Ann Uram, pretties; Ruth Ann Markle, ugliest; Carol Higgins, hardest to guess.

The regular meeting will be held next week at 6 p. m. in the basement of the Fells Methodist Church.

This is the couple's second child, having a son. The mother is the former Patricia Daumit.

Lebanon PTA In Meeting at School Here

The October meeting of the Lebanon P.T.A. was held on October 14 at Lebanon school.

President Andrew Solan opened the meeting by reading the P.T.A. prayer. The group gave the pledge of allegiance. In the absence of the secretary, the secretary's report was read by Mrs. Helen Lynch. The treasurer, Mrs. Rose Hughes, also submitted her report.

Mrs. Hughes reported on the area meeting which was held at Lebanon school. Mrs. Jane Mayhew reported on the county dinner meeting which was held in Ligonier.

Mrs. Mayhew, ways and means chairman, announced plans for raising funds for the organization. A motion to buy dishes for the kitchen of Lebanon school was carried.

Miss Blanche Newcomer's room won the banner for attendance. It was announced that on the day following the P.T.A. meeting each month, a candy bar will be given every child whose parent or parents attended the meeting. To stimulate interest and attendance at P.T.A. meetings, Mrs. Robert Ammon, hospitality chairman, will distribute a free gift to each member present at the meetings.

Robert Naylor introduced State Trooper Charles O. Bonner, Public Relations Service Troop B, State Police who gave a very informative talk and showed a film on the highways.

Following adjournment refreshments were served.

Mrs. Anna Daumit, Belle Vernon, R. D. 2, was admitted on Sunday to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital with a broken leg received in a fall. Her room number is 268.

The St. Anne's Altar Society of Fellsburg will hold a spaghetti supper Wednesday at Twin Coaches from 5 to 10 p. m. The event is open to the public.

All members and their families of the Rehoboth Presbyterian Church are invited to a congregational gathering for the Rev. Nelson J. Jackaway and family Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. at the church.

Sokols Group Elects Officers at Conference

Officers were elected yesterday at the annual conference of the Slovak Catholic Sokols Group 6 held in the Sokol Home of Perryopolis. Units from Fayette, Westmoreland and Greene counties attended.

Mrs. Irene Matuschak of Uniontown was re-elected president. Other officers named were Mrs. Mary Sassak of Monessen, vice president; Pete Halvanik of Perryopolis, vice president; Anthony Samkovich of Uniontown, secretary, Cyril Troychak of Monessen, treasurer; Catherine Cossil of Perryopolis and Rudolph Faynor of Connellsville, book auditors; Betty Jane Rathway of Perryopolis, commandress; Thomas Matey of Perryopolis, commander; John Benyak of Monessen, sport director.

Joseph Rathway of Perryopolis served as chairman of election, and the Rev. Joseph Gajdosik, pastor of Most Holy Name Church of Monessen, is spiritual adviser. After the election the officers took their oaths.

Mrs. Matuschak conducted the business session during which plans were made for a banquet in the near future. The semi-annual meeting and exhibition was set for Fayette City and the date will be announced.

Incin Polacek and Paul Chacko of Charleroi, former officers, were presented gifts for their many years of service.

Mrs. Mary Sassak, who for many years has been active in calisthenics as commandress, and John Zdilla of Monessen, who has served as commander resigned their posts. Annual reports were given preceding the election.

The day's activities for the group included attending mass at St. John the Baptist Roman Catholic Church of Perryopolis at 10:15 a. m. The Rev. John Stofcik was the celebrant. Dinner was served at the Sokol Home with the Sokolsky Wreath 15 of Perryopolis in charge.

The gymnastic and calisthenic team from Group 6 won national honor this past summer in Akron, Ohio.

The evening session closed with prayer by Joseph Kalman of Perryopolis and refreshments were served.

Konrad Adenauer Elected to Third Term as Chancellor

BONN, Germany (UP)—Konrad Adenauer was elected today to a third term as chancellor of West Germany on his policy of rearmament, European federation and close cooperation with the United States.

The 81-year-old Adenauer was returned to power for another four years by a vote of 274 to 192 in the lower house (Bundestag) of Parliament.

Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party won a record-breaking 50.2 per cent of the popular vote in the Sept. 15 general elections, giving him an absolute majority and ensuring him of his easy victory today.

The Christian Democrat coalition partner will be its strongest ally, the German party. The two control 287 votes in the 497-seat lower house.

Adenauer will announce the cabinet which will run West Germany for the next four years some time Wednesday. The broad lines of its policy will be made public by the chancellor in a full - dress statement before the Bundestag Friday.

State Trooper Is Top Safe-cracker

A former district man modestly disclaims the title as "the nation's best safe-cracker."

However the facts prove otherwise. And the police, of all people, are happy about it.

The safe-cracking expert is Joseph Dussia, whose parents live at Vesta Six near Brownsville.

Dussia has another job, too. For the past 20 years he's been a member of the state police and now holds the rank of sergeant.

Dussia insists that Harry Miller, New York safe manufacturer, is the best at cracking combinations. But Miller is just as insistent that Dussia is the champion and he employs Dussia part-time as an instructor in his school.

Sergeant Dussia is kept busy with his safe-cracking chores. Hardly a day goes by that he isn't called upon to display his talents.

Last week, he travelled to Punxsutawney to open a safe at a commercial plant. The next day, he took a plane to Detroit to open a safe owned by the Eastern Air Lines.

Now stationed in DuBois, Sergeant Dussia has repeatedly opened bank safes when the mechanism defaulted or when the combination was lost.

He also opened the door to a cell block at Brookville Jail once so that some hungry prisoners could get to their meals.

"It's a matter of manipulation, feeling, hearing and a knowledge of locks," pointed out Dussia.

The deeds of the 40-year old state policeman will be recorded in a book now being written by Sam German of Punxsutawney.

According to Dussia, new-type safes are virtually burglary proof. He advises firms with safes over 15 years old to get the new types.

"Even I can't crack them," laughs Dussia.

Eyesight Tests Are Urged for State Drivers

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Nearly a quarter of a million Pennsylvania motorists would lose their drivers licenses if they were required to pass a vision test, State Highway Safety Director O. D. Shipley declared Sunday.

Shipley told the annual meeting of the Vision Conservation Institute that drivers with poor eyesight were "potential killers" on our highways.

The highway official pointed out the need for legislation designed to require periodic eyesight tests for motorists particularly in advanced age groups.

"Despite our best efforts," he said, "under present laws we issue driver's licenses annually to hundreds of persons unfit to drive for various reasons, including some persons receiving a pension for the blind."

He added that 750,000 of the state's five million licensed drivers never had eye examinations.

Sputnik in Color

MILWAUKEE (UP)— A floral centerpiece — fully equipped with bronze, rust and red colored chrysanthemums and brass antennae—won a prize at the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Florists Assn. competitions. Titled "Sputnik," it was prepared by florist S. M. "Moon" Mullins.

Church School Plans Meeting

Sixteen members of the Church School Association of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church met for the regular monthly meeting last Tuesday.

Mrs. Isabel Striker was the leader, using the topic, "Report Card for the Teacher." Miss Margaret Bierwirth presented a vocal solo. A background on the composer was given by Mrs. Striker.

The business session was conducted by Gustave Uiander.

The November meeting will have Mrs. Hazel Hamilton as leader. She will show movies taken at Bethesda Children's Home. Her son, Neil, will offer an accordion solo.

Former Girl Scout Troop 36 has presented a movie screen to the girl scouts to supplement the movie camera equipment recently presented by three troops.

Mrs. Joseph Rieser, your Daily Independent reporter, is recuperating in her home after being confined for the past two weeks with the Asian Flu.

Free Roller Skating

Officers of the West Newton Sportsmen's Association have announced that free roller skating will be held at Sportsmen's Park on the next two Saturday evenings from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. These events are open to the public.

VFW in Banquet

Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 7812, have completed plans for their 11th annual banquet. The banquet will be held on Saturday evening at the Charleroi Elks Club. Henry Rohland will act as master of ceremonies for the affair.

The Fall convention of the Greensburg Conference will be held at Trinity Church, Connellsville, on Monday, October 28.

Mrs. C. R. Moody of West Side is a patient in serious condition at Westmoreland Hospital in Greensburg.

Battle in Battle

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—What's in a name? Joe Kenneth Battle, 21, was fined $12 Monday for disorderly conduct and assaulting an officer.

Akron Trucker Is Victim of Crash

ANDOVER, Ohio (UP)—Robert W. Slocum, 27, Akron, Ohio, truck driver, was killed instantly Monday when two tractor-trailers and an automobile collided in a dense fog on Route 7 near here

Rescuers worked with a crane for three hours before Slocum's body was freed from the cab of his truck. He became pinned when a load of steel shifted forward.

The other drivers escaped injury.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our mother and grandmother, Marie Faraci, who died nine years ago today October 22, 1948.
A wonderul mother so loyal and true,
One in a million, that mother was you.
Just in your judgment, always right;
Honest and liberal, ever upright
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew,
Our wonderful mother, that one was you.
Sadly missed by Daughter and Grandchildren.

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfatner, Joseph Checchi, who died 31 years ago today, October 22, 1926
You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place
Sadly missed by Children and Grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Righetti; Mrs. Anthony Vivian; Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Checchi and Families.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Sam Orlando, who died 15 years ago today, October 22, 1942.
Sadly missed by Wife and Daughter.

Churchill Gives Personal Support To MacMillan

LONDON (UP)— Sir Winston Churchill, past master of Anglo-American cooperation, was reported today to have given his personal support to Prime Minister Harold MacMillan's quest for broader exchange of scientific information with the United States.

Churchill, who was prime minister when Britain gave the United States secrets of radar and jet engine development, met with MacMillan Monday night at No. 10 Downing Street.

MacMillan flies to Washington tonight (about 7:30 p.m. e.d.t.) after greeting Queen Elizabeth on her arrival from her North American tour.

MacMillan is taking with him Sir Edwin Plowden, chairman of the British Atomic Energy Authority, and Sir Patrick Dean, a deputy undersecretary at the Foreign Office versed in atomic matters.

Britain long has pressed the United States to share atomic secrets to prevent duplication of effort by U.S. and British scientists. President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles are believed favorable to such action.

MacMillan and Eisenhower also will discuss the whole range of world politics, much as they did last March when they met at Bermuda.

'Feelies' Coming to Filmland

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Take cover, men, the "feelies" are coming!

"Feelies" are a new kind of movie with an added dimension. You not only hear and see them, you also feel 'em.

This is accomplished by beaming messages to the subconscious mind via a process called Precon (for preconscious). First experiments with these subliminal suggestions were made in theaters where management flashed signs pushing popcorn — and popcorn sales zoomed.

The messages are invisible on the screen because they are beamed too fast for the conscious eye to see. But they register on the subconscious.

Shivering Audience

For example, should the characters in a picture experience severe cold, precon could flash on and off with "you're freezing to death," and audiences would literally be shivering in the aisles.

First movie to be made using the "feelie" technique is "ESP" (extra - sensory perception) which goes before the cameras this month at Westin - Rush productions.

C. W. Westin, president of the outfit, says the picture will be a scientifically controlled project, under the supervision of Dr. Robert E. Corrigan, inventor of Precon.

It's a good thing, too. No telling what might happen if Precon got out of control.

Company spokesmen say any emotion can be evoked by the process—hate, envy, lust, fear, laughter and the entire enchilada.

Imagine what would happen if they flashed "Love Thy Neighbor." A customer might steal a kiss from the blonde sitting next to him. It could start a first class riot.

Zilch By A Landslide

Or consider the reactions in a political situation if the message "vote for Zilch" was working on the subconscious. Zilch would win in a landslide.

How about "don't pay taxes?" The country would go broke.

"Feelies" could even cause a mass evacuation. It would not take long to make a ghost town of Hollywood by using Precon to warn "the Russians are in Pasadena" or so the promoters hint.

Dr. Corrigan is aware of the social implications of Precon. He says "there is a definite need for monitoring and controlling it by responsible authorities."

Nevertheless, it gives one a creepy feeling to know that the subconscious can be stirring up all sorts of troubles for an individual without his knowing it.

Just think what might happen if precon exhorted audiences to go jump in a lake. Then what?

The tiny shrew will attack and devour almost any animal up to twice its own size.

World of TV—

Producer Has Bring Back Alive Club

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — If this TV season strikes you as dismal, you are invited to join a club.

"I call it the bring 'em back alive club," said producer David Susskind today. "It's my feeling that when they introduce those TV shows from Hollywood, they should say — "and now, dead from Hollywood. . . .

"This is the most lackluster and inept of all the TV seasons. It makes last season look like academy award time. And if you remember last season, it hit a low in drivel."

Susskind is executive producer and vice-president of Talent Associates, which packaged such shows as "Mr. Peepers" and "Philco Playhouse." The firm's current entries are "Armstrong Circle Theatre" and six specs for CBS-TV, the next of which will be "The Prince and the Pauper" on Oct. 28.

Fast Buck Boys

"The trouble? It's this: 90 per cent of our nighttime drama shows now come to us on film from Hollywood," said Susskind. "Hollywood is the land of the fast buck boys, the place where they've been wallowing in mediocrity and blandness for years.

"The fast buck boys don't belong in this business. Let 'em go open a supermarket if they want to make money. Let 'em go dig an oil well or go hunt uranium. This is a craft to take pride in, but the only object of the Hollywood fast buck boys is to film shows as fast as possible, then cash in on the re-runs."

Susskind feels the competition for stars is another evil in the TV business. "It's a real sickness, this belief that if you get enough stars and just throw them on the air, you can make up in quantity what you lack in quality," he said.

Hollywood Formula

"And those Westerns! They're leftovers from the Hollywood formula. 'Let's make a Western,' they cry in Hollywood. 'They never miss.' Well, TV has taken a dreadful step further — let's make 'em all Westerns, TV says, and as a result they all miss. It's depressing and incredible."

Susskind sees some hope though. "I think most of the viewers realize there's something wrong with TV this season. I think in time the sponsors will learn, too, that mediocre filmed shows cost more in the end because you're stuck with a whole batch of them and can't change them."

Your Health—

Side Vision Needed to Get About

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Although you may not realize it, you actually have two types of vision. And both are important in just about everything you do.

"Straight ahead" vision permits you to read this column easily while looking directly at it. "Side vision" allows you to see the other page of this newspaper at the same time.

Seldom do we think about this side vision. Yet, without it, we would find it very difficult to get about.

If our vision was confined to what we could see directly in front of us, we'd be bumping into things continually. Also, we'd be unable to get out of the way of anything approaching from the side.

Side vision either is present at birth or develops within a short time thereafter.

However, important as this type of vision is, you can't read with it.

Let me illustrate what I mean.

Hold your right index finger about 18 inches in front of your face. That's normal reading distance. Keep your vision centered on your extended finger.

Now, take a wrist watch or pocket watch in your left hand. Hold it with the face toward you. Then, slowly, bring the watch toward your finger.

I think you'll find that while you can see the watch and easily identify it as such, long before it reaches your finger, you'll have a hard time reading the numerals on the dial until it is directly in line with the finger.

As you can readily see, each of your two types of vision has distinct advantage. Without straight-ahead vision you wouldn't be able to read, do any kind of fine or close-up work and you wouldn't be able to see clearly at a distance.

So protect both types by having frequent eye examinations. See your eye doctor at least every two years.

Question and Answer

M.J.R.: I am a woman 50 years old and have had one kidney removed. The doctors tell me my other kidney is perfect. Is there any reason why I cannot work?

Answer: If your other kidney is functioning normally, there is no reason why you cannot work.

Speaks Friday at CSTC

Robert Shaw, author of two of television's leading dramatic programs, "Robert Montgomery Presents" and "The Schlitz Playhouse of Stars" will discuss the medium in which he attained success when he appears Friday in Steel Auditorium at California State Teachers College.

In his lecture on modern television, entitled "The Monster in Your Living Room" Shaw will reveal many of the penetrating impacts which this new form of entertainment has had on life in America.

Shaw first attained fame and success as author of radio's popular shows, "Mr. District Attorney", "The Shadow" and "The Adventures of Christopher Wells." His talents were rapidly absorbed by television as it grew into the nation's leading medium of entertainment, and he is now regarded as one of the country's leading TV writers.

He makes clear, however, that he feels the responsibilities of being a guest several times a week in 15,000,000 homes, the estimated size of his coast-to-coast audiences.

"Those of us who produce or write for the watching and listening public," he said, "try to follow the dictates of our audience. Yet I admit that there are many reforms that can and should be made in our programs."

"For example," he continued, "today's youth is a captive audience of television. Many youngsters are more subject to its influence than to parents, teachers and churches combined."
